Intelligence Data Reported Rewritten To Suit Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Daniel O. Graham, retired military intelligence chief, says analysts rewrote an estimate of Soviet progress in missile warhead development after Henry Kissinger disagreed with their original conclusions.

"I was employed at CIA when one fully coordinated National Intelligence Estimate on Soviet strategic attack systems was returned for rewrite by Dr. Kissinger because he disagreed with certain conclusions," Graham said. "It was rewritten."

Businessmen Seek Federal Security Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. businessmen overseas are looking increasingly to the State Department for help in countering the threat of terrorism against American firms and business executives.

Victor H. Dikeos, deputy assistant secretary of state for security, said many of the nation's 100 biggest corporations are among firms aided so far in developing more effective security measures for their operations abroad. Under the State Department program, security officers assigned to various U.S. embassies and consulates brief businessmen on topics ranging from local police contacts to anti-kidnaping precautions.

Dikeos said in an interview that the current stepped-up program was designed to "standardize on a worldwide basis what we had been doing before in a more limited way at some of our posts."

He noted that the upsurge of terrorism in recent years — particularly several large-ransom kidnappings of American businessmen in Argentina — has led to a substantial "elevation of consciousness" about security matters among U.S. firms.

Dikeos said that over the past six months representatives of more than 20 major American companies have conferred with State Department security personnel either in Washington or abroad. He declined to name any of the firms, however, on grounds that security-related information was considered sensitive and confidential.

Fear Outbreaks As Schools Open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
School officials in Dallas were looking for a peaceful opening of public schools after an advertising campaign to win acceptance of a new desegregation plan calling for the busing of about 18,000 pupils.

Meanwhile, in the small Arkansas town of Eudora, school officials were promising discipline to prevent a repeat of the racial violence that closed their classrooms last spring.

Graham said Kissinger, then head of the National Security Council, wanted the estimate to indicate faster Russian progress toward achieving multiple independently targetable warheads (MIRVs).

"The estimate was changed in his direction," Graham said.

He recalled that the incident occurred in late 1969 or early 1970 when the Nixon administration was working toward an agreement with the Soviet Union on limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

The general, who retired last January as director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, suggested that Kissinger wanted a more ominous intelligence estimate to support arguments that such an agreement was imperative to curb Soviet missile gains.

An associate of Kissinger said Graham's version of the incident was overdrawn and "not quite a fair representation" of what happened.

"I don't believe that Kissinger sent the National Intelligence Estimate back to get a different conclusion," the Kissinger associate said.

"He probably told them to look at the NIE again and consider all possible interpretations of the evidence. There was a fair amount of debate in Washington at the time about the Russian S9 missile and whether they were MIRVing it."

"I would seriously doubt that Kissinger would tell the technicians what to conclude. To my knowledge, he has never done that."

The CIA was given an opportunity to comment but did not do so.

Graham mentioned the incident briefly and without detail in an article in "Strategic Review," journal of the privately financed United States Strategic Institute. He elaborated in an interview.

The United States and Russia completed their first SALT agreement in 1972, but it placed no limits on MIRV warheads. In 1973, the Pentagon announced officially that the Russians had successfully tested MIRV-armed missiles.

Egyptian Plane Hijacked

Bulletin

CAIRO (AP) — Seven Arab gunmen who hijacked an Egyptian airliner today surrendered after day-long negotiations at Luxor airport, sources at the Interior Ministry and the national airline reported.

No details were given, but the official Middle East News Agency reported earlier that several women and children passengers had been released from the jet.

The gunmen commandeered the Egyptian plane after it took off from Cairo for Luxor, 448 miles to the south. The semiofficial Middle East News Agency reported the hijackers ordered the pilot to fly to Benghazi, in neighboring Libya. The report said the pilot told the gunmen he didn't have enough fuel and the plane landed at Luxor.

Security forces immediately surrounded the craft and Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem flew to Luxor to take charge of the negotiations.

An Interior Ministry communique said there were 96 passengers listed on the plane's manifest, including the hijackers, and the Boeing 737 had a crew of five. Fourteen of the passengers were Arabs, the airline said, and most of the others were believed to be French and Japanese.

Egyptian officials reportedly believed the hijackers had been trained and hired by the Libyan government. Libyan President Moammar Khadafy is Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's main Arab enemy and relations between the two countries are poor. Egypt has accused Khadafy of directing a wave of terrorist attacks in Egypt in recent months. The Libyan leader has denied the charges.

The hijackers demanded the release of three Libyans jailed last month after reportedly confessing that Khadafy had ordered them to kill or kidnap a former Libyan leader, Omer el Meheisky, now living in exile in Egypt, Interior Ministry sources said.

They also called for the release of the manager of South Yemen Airlines in Egypt and a Palestinian, both of whom are being held on charges of trying to assassinate a former prime minister of South Yemen on Aug. 6, the sources said.

Federal Reserve Studies Credit Rules

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The Federal Reserve System is considering new rules to implement laws prohibiting bankers, merchants and others from denying credit solely because of age, race, color, religion, national origin or receipt of welfare benefits.

A key section of the rules is designed to prevent discrimination against the elderly. Such discrimination was banned by Congress earlier this year when it amended the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. Supporters of the legislation said that elderly people — who grew up before the advent of the "charge-it" society and are used to paying cash — often are rejected when they do apply for credit late in life.

(The Equal Credit Opportunity Act itself banned discrimination based on sex or marital status and Federal Reserve regulations implementing those provisions took effect last October.)

The amendments to the law permit creditors to take age into account — if they can show statistics to prove that it "represents a pertinent element of creditworthiness." Creditors are not allowed to set a mandatory cut-off age, however.

Here's what that means, according to a spokesman for the Fed's Office of Saver and Consumer Affairs:

A creditor who can show statistically that people aged 40 to 50 are better credit risks than those aged 50 to 60 is allowed to use that information to give a 45-year-old applicant a better rating than a 55-year-old applicant. If statistics showed that the older age group paid more promptly and defaulted less often, the 55-year-old would have the advantage.

What the creditor cannot do, is set an arbitrary limit — say 65 — and refuse to give credit to anyone over that age.

Among the problems involved in implementing the law are deciding exactly what is meant by elderly and figuring out whether the age provision protects the young as well as the old.

The Fed is seeking comments from the public on the subject. The deadline is Sept. 1 and anyone who has an opinion should write to Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C., 20551. The finalized regulations will take effect next March.

In another area, the Federal Reserve System is trying to define what's meant by the phrase "adverse action" as it is used in the law. This is important because the legislation requires creditors who take adverse action against an applicant to let him or her know within a reasonable period of time and to give the reason, if asked.

The Fed has proposed defining "adverse action" as the refusal to grant credit or increase an applicant's credit limit when requested. The refusal to authorize a point-of-sale transaction that exceeds a previously established credit limit would be an "adverse action."

What does all this mean?

Suppose you apply for a bank credit card. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and ask to have the limit raised to $700. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and go to a store and try to make a purchase for $550. You are turned down. That's not adverse action.

U.S. Rejects Korean Note

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Midway and four escorting warships were reported approaching Korean waters today to reinforce the American warning to North Korea against attacks on U.S. forces.

The U.S. Command refused to divulge the exact whereabouts of the Navy task force. But it was spotted by a Japanese pilot who estimated it would be close to the southern coast of Korea early today.

The pilot said a Soviet cargo ship was shadowing the carrier.

A North Korean broadcast said the dispatch of the naval force to Korean waters brought the situation "closer to the brink of war."

But the 151-mile-long demilitarized zone between North and South Korea was reported quiet, as it has been since the slaying last Wednesday of two American Army officers by North Korean guards in the Panmunjom truce village.

Thousands of South Korean workers assembled for rallies today denouncing North Korea for the attack on a United Nations Command working party that was pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom.

The workers shouted "Down with murder-gangster Kim Il-sung," the North Korean president; "Clubs for mad dog" and similar slogans.

President Chung Hee Park's Democratic-Republican party and opposition parties issued statements calling on the government to take "strongest possible measures" against Communist provocations.

The United States and South Korea both rejected a message from North Korea which said the clash last Wednesday was "regretful."

"We do not find this message to be acceptable since it does not acknowledge responsibility for the deliberate and premeditated murders of the two U.N. Command officers," said State Department spokesman John Ordway in Washington.

A Korean official commented: "The North Koreans did not express even condolences over the officers slain, nor did we find any sense of remorse in their statement."

The South Korean Foreign Ministry said the message was delivered orally at a meeting Saturday at Panmunjom. The English text said:

Hoffa Death Charges Near

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal investigators have information that former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa was strangled in the basement of a house only minutes after he disappeared from a restaurant 13 months ago, Newsweek magazine says.

Newsweek quoted federal sources as saying they think they know the identities of the men who carried out the execution and will soon have enough evidence for indictments.

The magazine said investigators believe Hoffa was unwittingly set up for the killing July 30, 1974 by his foster son, Charles L. "Chuckie" O'Brien, who became outraged at himself when he realized what he had done.

The magazine account said Hoffa was abducted after he went to keep an appointment O'Brien had helped arrange at the Machus Red Fox restaurant in the Detroit suburb of Bloomfield Township.

incident occurred at Panunjom for a long period. However, it is regretful that an incident occurred in the joint security area, Panmunjom, this time.

"An effort must be made so that such incidents may not recur in the future. For this purpose both sides should make efforts. We urge your side to prevent the provocation. Our side will never provoke first, but take self-defense measures only when provocation occurs. This is our consistent stand."

The message was delivered five hours after a U.N. Command force, acting on orders from President Ford, cut down the 40-foot Normandy poplar which the working party was pruning when the North Koreans attacked it. The tree cutters Saturday were guarded by 300 American and South Korean combat troops and an umbrella of American helicopter gunships, jet fighters and B52 bombers.

The U.N. Command said the tree blocks its forces' view of North Korean guard posts on the other side of the truce village.

Carter Sees Help From GOP Ticket

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmy Carter says his chances of carrying the Western states in the November election have been helped by the Republicans' choice of a ticket headed by President Ford with Sen. Robert Dole as a running mate.

"I'll do much better out here now than I would against other possible tickets," Carter said after arriving here Sunday at the start of a four-day campaign swing.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan "would have added a great deal of trouble for me."

Carter, who attended a star-studded fund-raising dinner and two parties Sunday night, was to meet today with the steering committee of the Democratic National Committee, which is coordinating the Carter campaign with Democratic congressional and state campaigns.

He was also to outline the basic themes of his campaign today at a speech to the Los Angeles Town Hall Forum.

Those themes include the need to restore the public's faith in government and to have government leaders who are responsive to the people.

He was to fly later to San Francisco for another party fundraiser.

Carter said Sunday he approved of Ford's order for a demonstration of military power in Korea as the result of the slayings last week of two U.S. officers by North Korean border guards.

Ford's use of force "has been restrained enough not to expand the incident into a more serious confrontation," Carter said. "He's done a good job, as far as I know."

Carter said he had received a telephone briefing on the situation from the CIA.

He also said, "I think it would be a very serious mistake for me as candidate to take an opposite position to President Ford in a time of crisis where our national security might be involved."

Carter began party-hopping Sunday evening with a reception for the steering committee. Actors Steve McQueen and George Peppard were there.

Then he mingled with wealthy California Democrats at a dinner in his honor at the Beverly Hills home of Lew Wasserman, head of MCA, Inc.

Federal Reserve Studies Credit Rules

The Federal Reserve System is considering new rules to implement laws prohibiting bankers, merchants and others from denying credit solely because of age, race, color, religion, national origin or receipt of welfare benefits.

A key section of the rules is designed to prevent discrimination against the elderly. Such discrimination was banned by Congress earlier this year when it amended the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. Earthquakes Hit China, Philippines

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — A severe earthquake was reported in central China today, and a mild aftershock was felt in the southern Philippines.

Japanese seismologists reported a quake measuring 7.3 on the Richter Scale in the central Chinese province of Szechuan, in a mountainous, sparsely populated area that has been hit by several tremors in the past few days.

As usual, there was no word of the quake from Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency. But it reported earlier that a quake there earlier this month caused little damage because the population was prepared for it.

The aftershock in the southern Philippines was the 29th since the big quake and tidal wave there last Tuesday. It registered 6.0 on the Richter Scale at the U.S. National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., which said its epicenter was located in the Moro Gulf, like the killer quake last week.

However, the National Geophysical Observatory in Manila said it was not severe in Zamboanga City or Cagayan de Oro, two of the cities where it was felt, and no further damage or casualties were reported.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs in which every increase of one whole number means the ground motion is 10 times greater. In populated areas, a reading of 6 is considered a severe quake, 7 a major quake which can cause widespread heavy damage, and 8 a "great" quake which can cause tremendous damage.

The quake which devastated the Tangshan area of northeast China in July registered 8.2 on the Richter Scale, while the big quake in The Philippines last week measured 7.8.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos reported Sunday that the toll from the quake and tidal wave last week has risen to 4,000 persons confirmed dead and 4,000 others missing and presumed dead. He said at least 175,000 people are homeless on Mindanao island and the Zamboanga peninsula, and that it will cost the government $134 million over the next five years to rehabilitate the area.

Analysts also said investors were put in a arry mood by the selling that dominated market activity late last week.

Today's early prices included Occidental Petroleum, unchanged at 18½; Deere, down ¾ at 65¼; Exxon, off ½ at 51, and Gulf & Western, off ¾ at 17½.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 9.81 to 974.07, its lowest close since early June. For the week the average showed a 16.12-point loss.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly again today after sharp losses in the two previous sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost about 3 points in the early going, and losers took a 2-1 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers blamed the selling partly on uneasiness over last week's incident in Korea in which two American military officers were killed.

Over the weekend the U.S. State Department rejected as unacceptable a message from North Korea calling the incident "regretful." Five ships of the U.S. Navy were reported approaching Korean waters to emphasize the American warning against attacks on its forces.

Analysts also said investors were put in a arry mood by the selling that dominated market activity late last week.

Today's early prices included Occidental Petroleum, unchanged at 18½; Deere, down ¾ at 65¼; Exxon, off ½ at 51, and Gulf & Western, off ¾ at 17½.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 9.81 to 974.07, its lowest close since early June. For the week the average showed a 16.12-point loss.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

Tomato Tips Given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wilbur A. Gould, professor of horticulture at Ohio State University has a word of warning and two words of safety for home gardeners planning to can their own tomatoes this year.

The words are "botulism" and the solution, "citric acid."

Tomatoes without sufficient acidity will not be properly sterilized in the canning process, Gould warns. The result could be botulism poisoning.

Gould recommends adding tablets of citric acid to batches of tomatoes which may be low in the chemical, something normally found in tomatoes.

Although citric acid was hard to come by last year, Gould said it probably will be available this summer, either under its chemical name or as "tomato canning tablets."

Some varieties like Rutgers, Lafayette and some of the Heinz strains are naturally high in acid, Gould said. Other newer ones such as Chico 3, Red Rock and Centennial are bland and need acidification, he said.

Gould's recommendation for being on the safe side in canning without use of pressure cooking is to add the acid. "The home grower or canner can never be positive about acid content because of differences in growing conditions," he said.

State Receives Federal Grant For Arts Education

The Ohio Department of Education has been awarded a $10,000 federal grant to develop a statewide plan to improve the quality of arts instruction in Ohio, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex said today.

Through the grant, an arts forum comprising representatives of business, labor, education, and the arts, will be assembled this fall and winter. The forum will provide information on the nature of arts curricula which should be available for Ohio's children and youth.

Subjects which are included in the arts are music, dance, dramatics, creative writing, poetry and the visual arts.

An arts advisory planning commission to be appointed by the state superintendent will use the information gathered by the forum to supplement present curricula. The plan is expected to be completed by July, 1977.

Ohio was among 41 state departments of education receiving grants, ranging from $2,000 to $10,000, for development of programs to make the arts more basic to education — a part of regular curriculum rather than an alternate course of study or after-school activity.

In 1920, Ohio ranked third among the states in value of products and fifth in the amount of capital invested.

Protesters Arrested At A-Site

EXETER, N.H. (AP) — About 170 demonstrators were arrested during an antinuclear power protest at the construction site of a $1.6 billion nuclear plant.

The demonstrators were scheduled for arraignment today on charges of criminal trespass and contempt of court. The latter charge stems from issuance of a Superior Court injunction barring anyone from the utility's construction site without authorization.

The protesters were carried or dragged to 10 school buses Sunday by about 100 state troopers after being told to leave the Public Service Co. of New Hampshire's construction site in Seabrook. They were held overnight at a National Guard armory in Portsmouth.

"No forced busing!" the protesters chanted as the buses arrived and the troopers moved in to break up the demonstration against construction of the plant.

The demonstrators came from throughout New England and New York State. About 1,000 persons gathered at Hampton Falls Common for a rally Sunday afternoon, and then about 200 of them went to the guarded plant site via an old railroad right-of-way.

The demonstration was organized by the Clamshell Alliance, a coalition of New England antinuclear power groups.

The protesters sat in a large circle in the construction area, singing and shouting "No nukes!"

Eighteen persons were arrested Aug. 1 during a similar demonstration at the site. Three more were arrested several days later at the official ground-breaking ceremonies.

Scattered Showers Reported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Weather Service says there is a chance of scattered showers and thundershowers through western Washington, the plateau region, the Rockies, Florida, South Carolina and the eastern half of the Gulf Coast.

Unseasonably hot to very hot weather is expected through the northern Plains, Minnesota, Maine and the New England coast. Elsewhere, readings will be seasonably mild to warm, with clear to partly cloudy skies.

Scattered showers and thundershowers persisted overnight in the intermountain region.

Most of the thundershowers and showers early last night were over Utah, Idaho and western Montana but they stretched south into Arizona.

The heaviest thunderstorms Sunday afternoon were in Nevada, where Battle Mountain and Winnemucca had wind gusts over 60 miles per hour. The evening's strongest thunderstorms hit Arizona, where a heavy thunderstorm in the Globe area caused many roads and washes to flood.

Precipitation over other areas of the nation was scarce. A weak cold front across the upper Great Lakes and the upper Mississippi Valley failed to produce any rain. Widely scattered showers and thundershowers dampened northern California and smaller portions of Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia, Florida and the Carolinas. Just before midnight, a few thundershowers broke out over the high plains of Colorado and western Kansas.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 94 at Needles, Calif., to 48 at Lakeview, Ore.

WOOD CARVER — Famed wood carver Lewis Babb, Washington C.H., explains his technique to Jill Gregory at the Atlanta Old Fashioned Days Saturday. Babb, 89, began carving over a half-century ago when he injured his legs in a farm accident. Since then, he has exhibited many of his works in Ohio.

Earthquakes Hit China, Philippines

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — A severe earthquake was reported in central China today, and a mild aftershock was felt in the southern Philippines.

Japanese seismologists reported a quake measuring 7.3 on the Richter Scale in the central Chinese province of Szechuan, in a mountainous, sparsely populated area that has been hit by several tremors in the past few days.

As usual, there was no word of the quake from Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency. But it reported earlier that a quake there earlier this month caused little damage because the population was prepared for it.

The aftershock in the southern Philippines was the 29th since the big quake and tidal wave there last Tuesday. It registered 6.0 on the Richter Scale at the U.S. National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., which said its epicenter was located in the Moro Gulf, like the killer quake last week.

However, the National Geophysical Observatory in Manila said it was not severe in Zamboanga City or Cagayan de Oro, two of the cities where it was felt, and no further damage or casualties were reported.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs in which every increase of one whole number means the ground motion is 10 times greater. In populated areas, a reading of 6 is considered a severe quake, 7 a major quake which can cause widespread heavy damage, and 8 a "great" quake which can cause tremendous damage.

The quake which devastated the Tangshan area of northeast China in July registered 8.2 on the Richter Scale, while the big quake in the Philippines last week measured 7.8.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos reported Sunday that the toll from the quake and tidal wave last week has risen to 4,000 persons confirmed dead and 4,000 others missing and presumed dead. He said at least 175,000 people are homeless on Mindanao island and the Zamboanga peninsula, and that it will cost the government $134 million over the next five years to rehabilitate the area.

Strike Hits Transit System

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bus drivers and mechanics struck the Southern California Rapid Transit District early today, forcing 750,000 commuters in four counties to look for other ways to get to work.

In San Francisco, 1,800 transit workers voted Sunday night to accept a new contract, after threatening a strike that could have shut down other city services as well.

Union and management spokesmen in Los Angeles said the strike of some 4,700 drivers and 1,100 mechanics was called when negotiations broke down shortly before midnight. The walkout began one minute after midnight.

Earl R. Clark, general chairman of the drivers' union, said negotiations broke down after the transit district failed to reply to a new proposal and asked for binding arbitration — a request he said the union would not accept.

A spokesman for the drivers said the final union proposal called for an increase of about 22 per cent in wages and fringe benefits spread over three years.

Judicial Outpouring

This most recent session of the U.S. Supreme Court was not only productive in matters of far-reaching importance, but filled with decisions on controversial questions. Some time will be required to digest the full significance of some of the decisions, and to test the limits of others.

Certainly one of the decisions at the top of the list was the court's approval of capital punishment as constitutionally permitted.

Doctor Upstairs

By JIM BISHOP

He was the epitome of dignity. Perhaps it was more than dignity. Dr. E. P. D. Egann was aloof, impeccable, merciless. As chief of surgery in a Chicago hospital he was a dictator who could not forgive a mistake in a subordinate.

Egann was tall, ramrod straight, a man with a fleck of white at each temple. He had an unusual aberration: eyes of different colors. The interns who feared his glance used to hum, "Brown eyes, Why are you blue?," but never in the presence of the surgeon.

He was rich, one of the few doctors who had a chauffeur. His wife was a gracious hostess, a loving mother of four. At the age of 40, he could have retired. He could have taught surgery at a university.

Secretly, Dr. E.P.D. Egann was a narcotic addict. He was not as pompously self-assured as he appeared to be. He might have known that someday, somehow he would make a grievous error. This is a law of logic, but Egann had no tolerance for logic or errors of judgment.

He made one. A little boy died on an operating table. Normally, it would not have become a public matter. There were many doctors who feared this man. They wrote anonymous letters to newspapers charging him with murder.

The medical society scheduled hearings. Silently, secretly, Dr. Egann signed his fortune over to his wife and disappeared. He was not seen again. Some called him a coward. Others said he was a suicide.

The Elizabeth Street precinct in New York covers the Lower East Side, Cherry Hill and Chinatown, which is to say poor Jewish neighborhoods, Italian and Oriental. A beggar showed up in a beanyard around the corner from the police station.

He mopped tile floors and scrubbed pots and pans for meals and a few dollars. He was a tall man with white hair. The distinguishing feature, to most people, was that he had a superior vocabulary. Few noticed that he had one brown eye and one blue.

Most of the time he appeared to be lethargic, laconic. One day a customer was sipping coffee and burst into tears. He had a sick daughter and no money. The man with the mop listened. Softly, he said he could help.

He did. A Jewish neighbor asked if he was a doctor. "Almost," he said. "Almost." The word got around. Sick youngsters were brought to the beanyard. He helped some. Some were beyond help.

In six months, he became a local celebrity. The poor believed in him. "What do you call yourself?" they asked. "Doctor Brown," he said. And so it was. They realized that he was not a qualified physician, but he seemed to perform miracles on youngsters.

Someone found a two-story shed in a

But—and this is where further testing will be required—the court left unclear the parameters of that decision, striking down some state laws and upholding others.

There were other equally important decisions, from granting women the power to decide on abortion without consent of husband or parents to striking down the press ban issued by a Nebraska judge in a murder case. Added to those were important decisions on private non-religious schools, job protection for employees of local governments, busing and more.

Many of these decisions took a pragmatic turn, indicating the majority on the Burger court believes the individual circumstances play a heavy role in deciding the overall issue. That could mean the precedents apparently established in some of this term's cases might not stand in the court's own view under differing circumstances.

backyard behind a flat. It was empty. Old odors suggested it might have been a stable. The poor chipped in chairs, a table, a busted sofa and installed Dr. Brown in the loft.

A carpenter made a wooden cross and hand-lettered a sign: "Dr. Brown — Upstairs." Adults came to him for help, but he said his interest was in saving the lives of little ones. They paid him in wrinkled dollar bills, bowls of hot noodles, bread, coffee and canned goods.

In time the fake physician became the epitome of dignity. The people knew that his only fear was that the authorities might find out that he was practicing medicine without a license.

The Chinese, the Italians, the Jews kept the secret. In time, they worked him to death. Infants and children were brought to the old stable at all the hours around the clock. Brown never complained. The harder they worked him the more he smiled.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The national consumer price index is to your wallet what the Dow Jones industrial average is to your stock portfolio. It may have much meaning, or it might have none at all.

Investors know that it is very unlikely that anyone would buy all 30 stocks in the industrial average and no others, and so the daily fortunes of investors usually vary widely. Some will win, others lose, regardless of the average.

And economists know that the national consumer price index, while valuable as an indicator of the economy's direction, might apply precisely to none of the geographic areas of the country.

Neither the industrial average nor the consumer price index can be used as a measure of one's own finances.

In July, for example, the price index for the nation as a whole rose 0.5 per cent, but in New York the rise was only 0.4 per cent, in Detroit 0.7 and in Los Angeles, a very inflationary 1.1 per cent.

If you examine the past 12 months you find a similarly diverse story.

Whereas the price index for the entire nation rose 5.4 per cent from July of 1975 to July of 1976, the increase was 6.7 per cent in both Chicago and Philadelphia.

The breakdown of the components also reveals vast differences.

New Yorkers during July experienced an increase in housing costs of only 0.1 per cent, or 1.2 per cent on an annual basis. But in Los Angeles, housing cost rose 1.1 per cent, or 13.2 per cent annually.

Is the consumer price index therefore meaningless? Not at all.

The CPI does have an application that is more limited than many people realize, but it is nonetheless an essential measurement of over-all direction, one that policy makers could scarcely do without.

It does, however, have rather limited application to individual decision-making because of the wide geographical range of habitation and the diverse living habits of individuals.

If the statistics are used as individual guides, then the geographical breakdowns for particular areas are much more valuable than the national averages, although still not nearly so valuable as one's own personal records.

It isn't only the CPI that is often misconstrued as a guide to personal affairs rather than as a general indicator of the economy. The popularly used jobless rate is often so misused, to the chagrin of the Labor Department.

Invariably, some individuals apply the rises and falls of jobless rate as a measure of their own job security, if they have one, or a measure of their chances of finding a job, if they are unemployed.

Used properly, the numbers are invaluable. Used for the wrong purpose, however, the numbers can often distort and deceive.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

After a stroke, my uncle developed aphasia. I looked it up in the medical library but cannot get a simple definition that I can understand.

Miss K. M., Md.

Dear Miss M.:

Aphasia is commonly understood to mean the inability to speak. It also includes the inability to write, read and especially to understand the spoken word.

Injury to the brain is the primary cause. Accidents, strokes, and birth defects in children are responsible for most cases of aphasia. The severity of the condition varies according to the specific areas of the brain that are involved.

The brain is divided into many centers. There is a center for sight, a center for hearing, a center for memory, a center for temperature, a center for the movement of the arms and the legs. And these are only a few of the tiny areas in the brain that control our capacity to move and function normally.

Some patients with aphasia cannot express themselves. This is called expressive aphasia. Others with receptive aphasia have difficulty in understanding the written or the spoken word. Total aphasia describes a patient who can neither express himself nor understand. It must be emphasized that there is no relationship between aphasia and mental illness.

In fact, this is the exact basis for the rehabilitation of patients who have suffered episodes of aphasia. There was a time when the aphasic person was neglected and given little or no hope for recovery. Today the patient, the family, and doctors coordinate their efforts to reactivate the missing functions. This is the ultimate to be hoped for in the modern practice of rehabilitative medicine.

It is gratifying to see patients with severe aphasia learn how to communicate and become self-sufficient in their daily lives. The aphasic person must be treated with patience, sympathetic understanding, encouragement and kindness but without overindulgence. With overindulgence they tend to work less hard to help reestablish those faculties that may be only temporarily impaired.

Judicial Outpouring

This most recent session of the U.S. Supreme Court was not only productive in matters of far-reaching importance, but filled with decisions on controversial questions. Some time will be required to digest the full significance of some of the decisions, and to test the limits of others.

Certainly one of the decisions at the top of the list was the court's approval of capital punishment as constitutionally permitted.

But—and this is where further testing will be required—the court left unclear the parameters of that decision, striking down some state laws and upholding others.

There were other equally important decisions, from granting women the power to decide on abortion without consent of husband or parents to striking down the press ban issued by a Nebraska judge in a murder case. Added to those were important decisions on private non-religious schools, job protection for employees of local governments, busing and more.

Many of these decisions took a pragmatic turn, indicating the majority on the Burger court believes the individual circumstances play a heavy role in deciding the overall issue. That could mean the precedents apparently established in some of this term's cases might not stand in the court's own view under differing circumstances.

Doctor Upstairs

By JIM BISHOP

He was the epitome of dignity. Perhaps it was more than dignity. Dr. E. P. D. Egann was aloof, impeccable, merciless. As chief of surgery in a Chicago hospital he was a dictator who could not forgive a mistake in a subordinate.

Egann was tall, ramrod straight, a man with a fleck of white at each temple. He had an unusual aberration: eyes of different colors. The interns who feared his glance used to hum, "Brown eyes, Why are you blue?" but never in the presence of the surgeon.

He was rich, one of the few doctors who had a chauffeur. His wife was a gracious hostess, a loving mother of four. At the age of 40, he could have retired. He could have taught surgery at a university.

Secretly, Dr. E.P.D. Egann was a narcotic addict. He was not as pompously self-assured as he appeared to be. He might have known that someday, somehow he would make a grievous error. This is a law of logic, but Egann had no tolerance for logic or errors of judgment.

He made one. A little boy died on an operating table. Normally, it would not have become a public matter. There were many doctors who feared this man. They wrote anonymous letters to newspapers charging him with murder.

The medical society scheduled hearings. Silently, secretly, Dr. Egann signed his fortune over to his wife and disappeared. He was not seen again. Some called him a coward. Others said he was a suicide.

The Elizabeth Street precinct in New York covers the Lower East Side, Cherry Hill and Chinatown, which is to say poor Jewish neighborhoods, Italian and Oriental. A beggar showed up in a beany around the corner from the police station.

He mopped tile floors and scrubbed pots and pans for meals and a few dollars. He was a tall man with white hair. The distinguishing feature, to most people, was that he had a superior vocabulary. Few noticed that he had one brown eye and one blue.

Most of the time he appeared to be lethargic, laconic. One day a customer was sipping coffee and burst into tears. He had a sick daughter and no money. The man with the mop listened. Softly, he said he could help.

He did. A Jewish neighbor asked if he was a doctor. "Almost," he said. "Almost." The word got around. Sick youngsters were brought to the beany. He helped some. Some were beyond help.

In six months, he became a local celebrity. The poor believed in him. "What do you call yourself?" they asked. "Doctor Brown," he said. And so it was. They realized that he was not a qualified physician, but he seemed to perform miracles on youngsters.

Someone found a two-story shed in a backyard behind a flat. It was empty. Old odors suggested it might have been a stable. The poor chipped in chairs, a table, a busted sofa and installed Dr. Brown in the loft.

A carpenter made a wooden cross and hand-lettered a sign: "Dr. Brown — Upstairs." Adults came to him for help, but he said his interest was in saving the lives of little ones. They paid him in wrinkled dollar bills, bowls of hot noodles, bread, coffee and canned goods.

In time the fake physician became the epitome of dignity. The people knew that his only fear was that the authorities might find out that he was practicing medicine without a license.

The Chinese, the Italians, the Jews kept the secret. In time, they worked him to death. Infants and children were brought to the old stable at all the hours around the clock. Brown never complained. The harder they worked him the more he smiled.

Business World

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The national consumer price index is to your wallet what the Dow Jones industrial average is to your stock portfolio. It may have much meaning, or it might have none at all.

Investors know that it is very unlikely that anyone would buy all 30 stocks in the industrial average and no others, and so the daily fortunes of investors usually vary widely. Some will win, others lose, regardless of the average.

And economists know that the national consumer price index, while valuable as an indicator of the economy's direction, might apply precisely to none of the geographic areas of the country.

Neither the industrial average nor the consumer price index can be used as a measure of one's own finances.

In July, for example, the price index for the nation as a whole rose 0.5 per cent, but in New York the rise was only 0.4 per cent, in Detroit 0.7 and in Los Angeles, a very inflationary 1.1 per cent.

If you examine the past 12 months you find a similarly diverse story.

Whereas the price index for the entire nation rose 5.4 per cent from July of 1975 to July of 1976, the increase was 6.7 per cent in both Chicago and Philadelphia.

The breakdown of the components also reveals vast differences.

New Yorkers during July experienced an increase in housing costs of only 0.1 per cent, or 1.2 per cent on an annual basis. But in Los Angeles, housing cost rose 1.1 per cent, or 13.2

per cent annually.

Is the consumer price index therefore meaningless? Not at all.

The CPI does have an application that is more limited than many people realize, but it is nonetheless an essential measurement of over-all direction, one that policy makers could scarcely do without.

One-Day Clown

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sgt. Edward Malloy, a Cleveland policeman for 18 years, performed as a clown in a circus recently.

Malloy got the chance to play a clown when he made a successful bid on a clown-for-a-day job offered in a fund-raising campaign on local television.

"It was just something I thought I'd like to do," said the 41-year-old bachelor. "There was no special reason."

Malloy went all out for his night in the spotlight. He received six free tickets for the circus, but bought 27 more, spending a total of $142. And that's in addition to $95 he paid for the bid.

Reagan Planning Radio Show Return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he is willing to do anything he can to help President Ford's campaign, but his efforts will have to be fitted around his radio and public speaking commitments.

"I'll do what I can," Reagan said as he prepared to meet today with the producer of "American Opinion," the daily radio show he discontinued when he started campaigning against Ford last year for the Republican presidential nomination.

The 65-year-old former California governor, whose broadcasting career began as a baseball announcer for the Chicago Cubs before he broke into movies in 1937, hopes to be on the air in about three weeks with a daily five-minute political commentary. He returned to radio once before — in 1975 after leaving California's governorship.

In an interview on the flight back to California after last week's Republican National Convention, Reagan said that looking back over his campaign, the only thing he would do differently is spend more time in Ohio and less in California.

Reagan won California's winner-take-all primary for 167 delegates in a 2-1 landslide. He polled 45 per cent of the Ohio vote the same day, but lost 91 of the state's 97 delegates.

"If we had it to do over again, knowing what we know now with hindsight of how safe we were in California — well, I believe that with four or five days campaigning in Ohio, we would have carried Ohio," Reagan said.

Reagan said he believes he had enough delegates to win when he arrived at the GOP convention in Kansas City, Mo. He said the same thing at the outset of the convention, although all independent surveys showed Ford ahead.

"Yes, we could (have won). We weren't snowing anybody with the optimism beforehand," he said.

Medical Lab Fraud Claimed

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — U.S. Atty. John R. Wilks says he expects a federal grand jury investigating Medicaid and Medicare programs to return an indictment this week against a Fort Wayne-based medical testing laboratory.

The testing lab certified bogus test samples from Michigan medical care providers, according to federal sources. The providers billed Medicaid and Medicare for fake tests the laboratory claimed to have made.

The sources also said many of the test samples were recorded as belonging to Michigan Medicaid and Medicare patients who actually were dead.

Wilks said he expects one person to be indicted by the South Bend grand jury.

The investigation was triggered seven months ago when postal inspectors reported allegedly bogus medical tests being mailed across state lines.

6 Injured In Union Hall Shooting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Six persons were injured Sunday, two seriously, during a fight and shooting incident that disrupted a meeting of the International Union of Electrical Workers, officials said.

Charles Wheeler, 33, of Dayton was shot in the abdomen during a melee at the meeting hall of IUE Local 801, according to spokesmen at Miami Valley Hospital. Another Dayton man, Erick Larsen, 25, was reported in the hospital's intensive care unit, suffering from head wounds received in the disturbance. Wheeler was listed in fair condition late Sunday and Larsen in critical condition, spokesmen said.

The four other persons were to consider a strike vote against GM.

He said a fight developed after he called one of the injured persons out of order for protesting a decision that gave union leaders the authority to have the local's next contract with GM ratified by secret ballot in division plants.

Palmer said after order was restored, the vote to strike after supplying GM with proper notice was passed by the membership. Union leaders must give GM 30 days notice before any strike action is taken, officials said.

Palmer described the disturbance as "an unfortunate situation." In the future, he said, "we will take whatever action is necessary to keep order in the union hall."

Reagan Planning Radio Show Return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he is willing to do anything he can to help President Ford's campaign, but his efforts will have to be fitted around his radio and public speaking commitments.

"I'll do what I can," Reagan said as he prepared to meet today with the producer of "American Opinion," the daily radio show he discontinued when he started campaigning against Ford last year for the Republican presidential nomination.

The 65-year-old former California governor, whose broadcasting career began as a baseball announcer for the Chicago Cubs before he broke into movies in 1937, hopes to be on the air in about three weeks with a daily five-minute political commentary. He returned to radio once before — in 1975 after leaving California's governorship.

In an interview on the flight back to California after last week's Republican National Convention, Reagan said that looking back over his campaign, the only thing he would do differently is spend more time in Ohio and less in California.

Reagan won California's winner-take-all primary for 167 delegates in a 2-1 landslide. He polled 45 per cent of the Ohio vote the same day, but lost 91 of the state's 97 delegates.

"If we had it to do over again, knowing what we know now with hindsight of how safe we were in California — well, I believe that with four or five days campaigning in Ohio, we would have carried Ohio," Reagan said.

Reagan said he believes he had enough delegates to win when he arrived at the GOP convention in Kansas City, Mo. He said the same thing at the outset of the convention, although all independent surveys showed Ford ahead.

"Yes, we could (have won). We weren't snowing anybody with the optimism beforehand," he said.

Medical Lab

Fraud Claimed

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — U.S. Atty. John R. Wilks says he expects a federal grand jury investigating Medicaid and Medicare programs to return an indictment this week against a Fort Wayne-based medical testing laboratory.

The testing lab certified bogus test samples from Michigan medical care providers, according to federal sources. The providers billed Medicaid and Medicare for fake tests the laboratory claimed to have made.

The sources also said many of the test samples were recorded as belonging to Michigan Medicaid and Medicare patients who actually were dead.

Wilks said he expects one person to be indicted by the South Bend grand jury.

The investigation was triggered seven months ago when postal inspectors reported allegedly bogus medical tests being mailed across state lines.

Trinity Lutheran Church Setting For Wedding Rites

MRS. RICHARD W. SUTHERLAND

The wedding of Miss Lesa A. Davis and Mr. Richard W. Sutherland took place 6:30 p.m., July 31, in Trinity Lutheran Church of Circleville. Pastor Carl Zehner officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with arrangements of salmon and white gladioli backed with palms, and candles.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Davis, 354 E. Mount St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Sutherland, 3911 W. Broad Rock Road, Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She selected for her wedding a floor length gown of ivory crinkled muslin with a square neckline, short puffed sleeves trimmed with lace, and a six inch strip of matching lace encircled the skirt. In her hair she wore a crown of baby's breath and tiny palm leaves and she carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses with greenery and yellow tulle. She wore a gold locket, a gift of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Chris Farrell, wore a floor length gown of polyester and cotton with an ivory background and two toned blue floral print. Lace trimmed the bodice and formed the shoulder straps. She carried a single long stemmed yellow rose with baby's breath and greenery.

Miss Roni Keiser served as bridesmaid. She was gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried a matching rose.

Mr. Rock Davis, brother of the bride, performed the duties of best man. Mr. Rick Prushing was usher.

The bride's mother wore a floor length double knit yellow dress with elasticized bodice and butterfly sleeves. The bridegroom's mother chose a floor length sea green double knit dress with gold accessories.

A reception and buffet at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The home was decorated in yellow and blue. Hostesses were Mrs. Sam Reeser, Mrs. Larry Spire, and Mrs. Tracy Spire, aunts of the bride.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore an ivory jump suit with brown accessories. The couple now resides at 224 Watt St.

The new Mrs. Sutherland is a graduate of Circleville High School and is veterinary assistant for Dr. Paul Teegardin DVM.

Mr. Sutherland, a graduate of Kings High School in Cincinnati, is employed at Circleville General Electric Lamp Plant.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Virginia, West Virginia, California, Lancaster, Reynoldsburg, and Columbus, Ohio.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Sex And The D.C. Secretaries

DEAR ABBY: I see in the news that American taxpayers are paying up to $26,000 annually to provide its elected officials with "female companionship" around the clock.

I am a disabled veteran. I draw only $8,340 a year and can't afford a mistress, so I have to sleep with my own wife.

Sign me . . .

LACKING BENEFITS

DEAR LACKING: Let's hear it from a homemaker who has another view of the news:

DEAR ABBY: That buxom blonde Washington secretary who can't type or answer the phone but drew $14,000 a year for entertaining her boss has made my day!

I am a housewife whose job doesn't pay a salary, but it's comforting to know that I'm worth $14,000 a year just for entertaining my husband twice a week.

When I add that to what I must be worth for cleaning, cooking, doing the laundry and raising the kids, it makes me feel terrific.

WORTH MILLIONS

DEAR WORTH: And now a word from a secretary who works "on the hill."

DEAR ABBY: I'm a hard-working, well-paid, Washington secretary, hired to do office work, and that's all I'm expected to do. I resent all those "ladies-in-waiting" who have given us government gals a bad name. In self-defense I paid a dollar for a badge that says, "I CAN TYPE!"

FOR THE RECORD

DEAR ABBY: Should a dinner guest (whether it be a friend or relative) offer to help the hostess clear the table between courses and when dinner is finished?

I am referring to home where there are no paid domestic employees.

BLUE ISLAND, ILLINOIS

DEAR BLUE: If it's obvious that your hostess could use a little help, offer. But if she declines, take her at her word and don't insist.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is 60 years old. She was married 10 years ago by the justice of the peace and now she wants a chuch wedding with all the trimmings.

She's having her four young nieces as bridesmaids, and her "maid" of honor is an old maid of 70 who was her childhood friend. The "bride" is wearing a long white (!) gown and there's to be a large reception in a rented hall.

I say, getting married in church is fine, she should have a quiet religious ceremony and a dinner afterward in someone's home or in a nice restaurant. I also think a white gown is in poor taste.

Past Matrons Meet

Past Matrons of Circleville Chapter 90 Order of the Eastern Star met recently in the home of Mrs. Joseph Peters, Route 1, Ashville.

Kathryn Thomerson presided over a brief business session and Chestora Peters led devotions giving a brief resume of an address written by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

A dessert course was served by hostesses, Thelma Noecker and Chestora Peters, at a table centered with an arrangement of fresh garden flowers.

Present were Marie Hamilton, Elizabeth Dunkle, Erma Sharpe, Donna Foreman, Faye Mahaffey, Gladys Shepler, Shirley Hall, Kathryn Thomerson, Thelma Noecker, Chestora Peters and Miriam Barnhart.

Cards were signed to be sent to shut-ins. Circle members were reminded that new officers will be elected at the September meeting and that Sept. 26 will be Christian Education Sunday. The circle will make a banner for that day with Rosalee Cullums and Joanne Schlegler in charge of the project.

Rose Ann Davis was in charge of the program entitled "A Good Neighbor." She read Romans 13:8-10 and a short story about a good neighbor. Joanne Schlegler closed the program with prayer.

DEAR ABBY: I see in the news that American taxpayers are paying up to $26,000 annually to provide its elected officials with "female companionship" around the clock.

DEAR LACKING: Let's hear it from a homemaker who has another view of the news:

DEAR ABBY: That buxom blonde Washington secretary who can't type or answer the phone but drew $14,000 a year for entertaining her boss has made my day!

I am a housewife whose job doesn't pay a salary, but it's comforting to know that I'm worth $14,000 a year just for entertaining my husband twice a week.

When I add that to what I must be worth for cleaning, cooking, doing the laundry and raising the kids, it makes me feel terrific.

WORTH MILLIONS

DEAR WORTH: And now a word from a secretary who works "on the hill."

DEAR ABBY: I'm a hard-working, well-paid, Washington secretary, hired to do office work, and that's all I'm expected to do. I resent all those "ladies-in-waiting" who have given us government gals a bad name. In self-defense I paid a dollar for a badge that says, "I CAN TYPE!"

DEAR BLUE: If it's obvious that your hostess could use a little help, offer. But if she declines, take her at her word and don't insist.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is 60 years old. She was married 10 years ago by the justice of the peace and now she wants a church wedding with all the trimmings.

She's having her four young nieces as bridesmaids, and her "maid" of honor is an old maid of 70 who was her childhood friend. The "bride" is wearing a long white (!) gown and there's to be a large reception in a rented hall.

I say, getting married in church is fine, she should have a quiet religious ceremony and a dinner afterward in someone's home or in a nice restaurant. I also think a white gown is in poor taste.

Colorado Mutilation Fears Die Out

DENVER (AP) — Ranchers armed themselves against an unknown enemy. Rural residents who never had locked their doors bought padlocks. Strange helicopters with beacons trained on the ground were reported flying over pastureland.

No, it's not a scene from a 1950s cutrate horror movie. That's the way it was last summer: fear and anger in the cattle country of eastern Colorado and other Western states because of unsubstantiated reports that cattle and other animals were being mutilated by somebody.

A year later, the mystery remains unresolved, but the furor is gone, despite a few reports of new "mutilations."

The president of the Colorado Cattlemen's Association says he feels there is "enough scientific data to put the idea of mutilations to rest." But local sheriffs remain concerned about the suspected mutilations.

The Colorado Bureau of Investigations continues an investigation of the situation, but has turned up no human suspects. Carl Whiteside, acting director of the CBI, says investigators so far have come with no motive for the mutilations if, in fact, there were any. There is considerable evidence that predators picked over the remains of dead animals, not humans, he says.

"If somebody were interested in animal parts, they could go to a rendering plant and get them for nothing," Whiteside said.

The mutilation saga started in Colorado on a spring night last year when a rancher in Elbert County found the shell of a dead cow, its tongue, sex organs, rectum and other body parts apparently carved out.

Then reports of other "mutilations" began to pour in from counties and stories of suspected mutilations dominated the front pages of many newspapers.

It was suggested to Whiteside's office that the reason for the mutilations might be: satanic rites, or college fraternities or even creatures from outer space. But Whiteside says he has to deal with facts—facts that point to predators not humans or Martians.

More than 200 cases of suspected cattle mutilations were reported in Colorado alone last year. This year, with the mutilations investigation no longer in the limelight, Howard Gillespie, currently in charge of the CBI investigation, says he's had only three official reports of mutilations from local sheriffs.

"We've conducted 37 examinations of hide samples in our laboratory," Gillespie said. "Of those, we've determined that two had been cut with a sharp instrument and that 35 had been chewed by some type of predator."

Officials in the diagnostic laboratory at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo., agree. A spokesman said only 11 "definite mutilations" were found last year, while the number has dropped to two or three this year. Close to 50 animals have been tested, he said.

Authorities in Wyoming, where more than 100 cases of mutilations have been reported in a year, say 99 of the cases definitely were the work of other animals.

Dr. H.A. Hancock of the Wyoming State Veterinary Laboratory points out that cuts in animal hides caused by predators can look "surgically straight."

Robert Burghart Jr. of Colorado Springs, Colo., who heads the state cattlemen's association, blames the "confirmed" mutilations on pranksters who read or heard news stories about mutilations.

"If you take the scientific data now available, they all, in every instance, were predator caused," Burghart said. "Also in every instance in carcasses in Colorado which were available ... it was apparent that animals already were dead (when the mutilations occurred)."

"What that says to me is that if there have been mutilations, they were done by pranksters working on dead animals."

Why, then, did last summer's mutilation reports create such havoc among ranchers? Burghart thinks there are two reasons: news coverage and the indefinable feeling a rancher has for his animals.

"The reaction of the general public was pretty volatile," Burghart said. "Anyone who has a love of life hates to think of any animal being killed. The ranchers' feeling was even more intense."

Last summer, Gov. Gov. Richard Lamm called the mutilations "one of the greatest outrages in the history of the Western cattle industry." He pledged the full resources of the state to arrest the persons responsible. Lamm later backed down after results of various studies were released.

But there are enough local officials still convinced there are human culprits involved to keep the controversy flickering.

One such official is Logan County Undersheriff Jerry Wolever. "We attempted to cooperate with the CBI, but we didn't get satisfactory answers," Wolever said. "We're open to any and all suggestions. Anyone could be right." But Wolever discounts the predator theory.

Sheriff George Yarnell of Elbert County, hardest hit last year with 63 reported mutilations, is another. He says he has had six mutilations reported to him since March. He says he doesn't believe they were predator-caused, though he says ranchers are not as upset as they were last summer.

And then there's Sheriff Harry L. "Tex" Graves of Logan County.

He said it's likely the CBI and labor officials at CSU would conclude the country's latest mutilation, discovered in late July, was the work of predators, even though all the cow's teeth had been cut out with surgical precision.

"There's a coyote in northeastern Colorado wearing a necklace made from cow's teeth," he said. "On the other hand, maybe he collected the teeth to take back to his dentistry class."

Sunshine Law Has Small Impact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 10-month-old sunshine law requiring government decisions to be made in public apparently has meshed into existing public relations machinery without major impact.

Not that it is without critics and loopholes. Some say it is vague and difficult to interpret, and it didn't apply to lawmakers who passed it and zealously guarded their right to closed party caucuses.

Budget and Management Director William W. Wilkins said he knows of no financial problems it created at the state level. Atty. Gen. William J. Brown's office said no litigation has involved a state agency so far although one case soon may be pending.

The Public Utilities Commission has been charged with breaking the law in a rate case but denies it. And it was the commission which said at first the statute was costing too much because of the unduly large number of notices it had to send out for emergency and special meetings.

However, Paul Richards of PUCO's staff, said they now have sifted down and that the costs of notices by mail and telephone, are being absorbed satisfactorily in the commission's operating budget.

Because of the energy problems and keen interest in major utility rate cases pending when the law went into effect last Nov. 28, PUCO Chairman C. Luther Heckman said special meeting notices had cost $1,600 by mid-December.

However, Richards said the number of special meetings— which must be announced 24 hours in advance under the law—dwindled off. He said it costs about $50 to $60 to notify the news media statewide of each special meeting—plus about 90 minutes of staff time for three people.

In addition, some early questions raised by the statute as to what constitutes notification have been resolved. Media throughout the state is notified only of emergency and special meetings, but only Columbus area newspapers and broadcasters receive notice of regular meetings free of charge.

The policy, as resolved after considerable confusion, is that out-of-Columbus media can be and are in some instances, charged for notification of regular meetings—$20 a year in the case of the utilities commission.

Attorneys and others interested in commission proceedings also are levied the $20 charge. Richards also pointed out that regular meeting announcements go to the Statehouse press room, and that in turn amounts to statewide notice since major dailies and wire services have representatives there.

Fumes Kill 3 Persons

WARSAW, Ky. (AP) — Three persons were killed over the weekend when carbon monoxide gas leaked from a small engine on the boat on which they were staying, state police said.

The bodies were found dead Sunday in a boat on the Ohio River near here.

Gallatin County Coroner Ulous Carlton said the three — two men and a woman — died of carbon monoxide poisoning apparently caused when they left a small engine used to provide electricity running overnight.

Carlton said a second woman — the wife of one of the men — has been taken to a Cincinnati hospital with carbon monoxide poisoning.

The names of the victims were withheld pending notification of relatives.

TV Boosters Meet Tonight

A special meeting of Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will be held 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school. Discussion will be about a membership drive.

The U.S. Army established Fort Atkinson in 1819. It was the first military post in present-day Nebraska.

The press is also now the receptacle of numerous other agency announcements, including some rarely heard of before and seldom if ever covered by newsmen, like the bedding board, arts council, mobile home commission, funeral and embalmers' board, among many others.

Many state agencies said the sunshine law didn't affect them because they already were meeting its requirements as a matter of policy. "The controlling board's meetings always have been public and announced in advance," said Wilkins, whose budget office oversees that important agency.

James Gravelle of the attorney general's communications staff said the law had "absolutely no impact" on its public relations functions.

The attorney general, as the state's lawyer, has been called on frequently by state officials who want to make sure they are complying with open meeting requirements. They have doubts at times if a planned meeting is covered by some of the bill's exceptions, Gravelle explained.

"The first thing we ask them is why they feel a meeting they want to have should be held in private," he said, adding, that if they can't give "a very good reason, we tell them they had better open it up."

Some of the exceptions spelled out in the bill are for meetings held to discuss attorney-client matters, to plan security, discuss personnel matters, and plan strategy for collective negotiations, along with a few others.

State officials said that while the law has not created major problems at the state level, they can't speak for the proliferation of local government units also covered by the bill.

Gravelle said he understood Lake County commissioners were accused in a court case of violating the open meetings requirement, but the charge eventually was dropped.

The one possible state level case involves an accusation that the utilities commission circumvented the law with its scheduling of decision-type meetings in the recent major rate case of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. actions haven't reached the court state, however.

Sunshine Law Has Small Impact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 10-month-old sunshine law requiring government decisions to be made in public apparently has meshed into existing public relations machinery without major impact.

Not that it is without critics and loopholes. Some say it is vague and difficult to interpret, and it didn't apply to lawmakers who passed it and zealously guarded their right to closed party caucuses.

Budget and Management Director William W. Wilkins said he knows of no financial problems it created at the state level. Atty. Gen. William J. Brown's office said no litigation has involved a state agency so far although one case soon may be pending.

The Public Utilities Commission has been charged with breaking the law in a rate case but denies it. And it was the commission which said at first the statute was costing too much because of the unduly large number of notices it had to send out for emergency and special meetings.

However, Paul Richards of PUCO's staff, said they now have sifted down and that the costs of notices by mail and telephone, are being absorbed satisfactorily in the commission's operating budget.

Because of the energy problems and keen interest in major utility rate cases pending when the law went into effect last Nov. 28, PUCO Chairman C. Luther Heckman said special meeting notices had cost $1,600 by mid-December.

However, Richards said the number of special meetings— which must be announced 24 hours in advance under the law—dwindled off. He said it costs about $50 to $60 to notify the news media statewide of each special meeting—plus about 90 minutes of staff time for three people.

In addition, some early questions raised by the statute as to what constitutes notification have been resolved. Media throughout the state is notified only of emergency and special meetings, but only Columbus area newspapers and broadcasters receive notice of regular meetings free of charge.

The policy, as resolved after considerable confusion, is that out-of-Columbus media can be and are in some instances, charged for notification of regular meetings—$20 a year in the case of the utilities commission.

Forest Fires Sweep 6 British Counties

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Six counties in southern England and Wales smoldered today after fire fighters battled through the night and put out two big forest fires and more than 200 smaller blazes that swept through the drought-stricken countryside.

Fire brigade officers warned that the fires could break out again at any time, since Britain's worst drought in 250 years has made southern England and Wales "a giant tinderbox."

Authorities estimated that some 3,000 persons were evacuated Sunday, including 1,000 from a country club, 360 aged patients from St. Leonard's Geriatric Hospital, a nudist colony and holidayers in mobile home parks.

Twenty fire fighters were overcome by heat and smoke, and about 50 homes were destroyed, but no towns were threatened, police reported.

Black Killed In Soweto

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police opened fire on blacks trying to enforce a work boycott in the huge Soweto township today and killed one of them.

Thousands of Soweto blacks stayed home in response to a call for a three-day protest strike, and employers in Johannesburg said up to 80 per cent of their black workers were absent at the start of the work day. But later they reported a steady trickle of latecomers arriving for work.

The latecomers reported attempts to force them to stay away but said police action failed these.

Deputy Police Commissioner D.J. Kriel said police opened fire three times on "gangs of intimidators" in the vicinity of Soweto's Orlando railway station. There were unconfirmed reports that at least six other persons were wounded by the gunfire, the South African Press Association reported.

The dead man was the 253rd person reported killed in more than two months of black unrest and protests against the government's racial policy. All but three were black.

Soweto, eight miles south of Johannesburg, was reported "tense and unpredictable."

Rhodes-Perk Rift Reported Getting Worse

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Ralph J. Perk, apparently irritated by what he believed were two attacks on him by Gov. James A. Rhodes, lashed out at the Republican governor Sunday, widening a growing rift between the two top men in Ohio's GOP.

The first was an anecdote told by Rhodes in a Plain Dealer article Thursday, in which Perk was depicted as pestering President Ford at the Republican National Convention in Kansas City with details of a Cleveland project.

Perk was further upset by accusations by state officials that Cleveland's inefficiency resulted in the city failing to receive any money in the past 11 years from a federal-state program for parks and recreation.

Melvin J. Rebholz, deputy director for resource management for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, was among those who made the charges.

"If Rebholz is typical of the current level of administrators in state government, then there is something wrong with the Rhodes' administration," said Perk, who then cited a lengthy list of state failures in its dealings with Cleveland.

"Cleveland has been promised a state office building for 15 years, and that's all we're getting now—more empty promises from the state," the mayor said.

Perk said the state "has federal money belonging to Cleveland, but we don't get it," and indicated that Cincinnati received large federal park grants because a former Rhodes official is city manager.

"Both Rhodes and (former Gov. John J.) Gilligan before him have forgotten that Cleveland people pay more in taxes to state government than any other area in the state," Perk said. "Yet this area has always been treated as a separate entity, as if we didn't belong to Ohio. But they take all our money."

But come January and February when you're getting those big Christmas bills, you won't be getting those big heating bills too.

A dozen highways and three major rail lines in southern England were closed as hundreds of troops, firemen and volunteers fought the fires, which were fanned by strong winds.

The biggest blaze was in the Hurn Forest, 15 miles west of Southampton, on England's south coast. Fire chiefs said an estimated six square miles were burned over.

"We stopped the flames only a few hundred yards from St. Leonard's Hospital," a fire officer reported.

"It was terrifying. The flames leapt from the crowns of the trees 60 feet up and we couldn't always get at them. We nearly didn't make it."

The fire fighters used up thousands of gallons of water. The government has already warned that water will soon be rationed in many areas if rain does not fall and replenish dried-up reservoirs, rivers and underground springs.

The fires raged through tinder-dry forests and moorland in five southern counties — Hampshire, Dorset, Kent, Sussex and Norfolk — and Merioneth county in northwest Wales.

Another big fire raged on the holiday island of Guernsey, in the English Channel off the French coast. Firemen in Scotland's West Lothian county said they put out a fire Sunday night after it had burned for 40 hours.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

An unprecedented rise in utility prices the last two years has made utility regulation a subject of bitter debate in the 111th General Assembly. Several groups dissatisfied with legislative action have been circulating initiative petitions to place utility regulation issues on the November ballot.

To get an issue on the statewide ballot this November petitioners must have obtained the signatures of 307,201 qualified voters by August 4. Usually 10 per cent to 25 per cent of the signatures collected on an initiative petition proved to be invalid, so successful petitions need closer to 400,000 total signatures.

Citizens for Utility Rate Equality (CURE), led by former Public Utilities Commissioner Henry Eckhart and the State Auditor, failed to get enough signatures to put their package of four constitutional issues on the ballot. A Ralph Nader affiliated group called Ohioans for Utility Reform (OUR) submitted about 380,000 signatures on its petition to Secretary of State Ted Brown by the August 4 deadline.

It will take a couple more weeks for county Boards of Elections to check all the signatures, but with that many extra names it looks like the OUR petition will have the 307,201 signatures needed to go on the statewide ballot.

The OUR petition includes four separate constitutional amendments. The first issue would enact a new Article XIX of the Ohio Constitution to provide a "lifeline rate" for residential gas and electricity users. This means the Ohio Constitution would guarantee residential utility consumers what OUR calls "a reasonable rate for the minimum amount of gas and electricity necessary to maintain a minimum standard of living during the winter months."

Specifically, the provision says that from October 15 to April 15 residential utility users may be charged no more than the average monthly rate (charged all users) for the first 30,000 cubic feet of natural gas and 400 kilowatt hours of electricity.

In addition, consumers may be charged no more than 50 per cent more per cubic foot of gas for the next 20,000 cubic feet of gas per month, and consumers with all-electric homes in use or substantially completed when the amendment becomes effective could be charged no more than the lifeline rate for the first 2,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per month during the winter months.

The first OUR amendment also provides that lifeline rates cannot be increased by adding fuel adjustments or other expenses except when rates are set or reset, that revenues lost to utilities from the lifeline rates must be made up from other nonresidential utility users, and lifeline rate changes must be implemented within 60 days after the amendment passes.

The second OUR amendment would amend Article XX of the Ohio Constitution to provide for a Residential Utility Consumer Action Group (RUCAG), a not-for-profit corporation which would "represent the interests of residential utility consumers in utility proceedings," according to an OUR summary.

RUCAG could intervene in any utility proceeding; conduct investigations and require utilities or other persons to provide information for the investigation; force the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) to initiate proceedings; intervene in judicial review of PUCO actions; and may draft, testify on, and lobby for utility bills in the legislature.

RUCAG would be financed from a voluntary check-off system on utility bills. Residential utility consumers who contribute at least $6.00 per year to RUCAG would be members.

The Board of Trustees for RUCAG is to be composed of an elected representative from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts. Board members could not be political officeholders or appointees, and could have no substantial financial interests in utilities or affiliated companies.

OUR amendment number three seeks to amend Article XV of the Ohio Constitution to further regulate development of nuclear power plants and related facilities. Such facilities are already regulated by the state, the Federal Energy Agency, and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

This amendment sets restrictive requirements on construction or expansion of nuclear facilities not having a final construction license from the AEC by January 1, 1976. Nuclear facility development would require: statewide hearings by a joint legislative committee; enabling legislation with specific findings on each facility the bill covers; and evidence that the applicant has sufficient insurance to cover any personal or property damage or economic loss caused by operation of the nuclear plant.

These standards would apply to any facility that produces power from nuclear fission, or is involved in the storage, transportation, use, disposal, or reprocessing of radio-active materials. They do not apply to facilities used solely for educational, medical, or materials-testing purposes.

The amendment designates nuclear materials and processes as "ultrahazardous," which makes processors and handlers strictly liable for damages without requiring proof of negligence. This would be in addition to any workman's compensation or other awards due an injured party.

OUR amendment number four has nothing to do with utilities. It changes the method of proposing constitutional amendments and laws by initiative petition.

Article II of the Ohio Constitution presently requires signatures of qualified voters equal to 10 per cent of the total vote cast for governor at the last preceding election (307,201 since 1974) to qualify a constitutional amendment for the ballot. The OUR proposal changes this to a fixed 250,000 signatures.

Laws proposed by initiative petition now require 3 per cent (92,160 signatures) and a referendum on a law passed by the legislature requires 6 per cent (184,380 signatures) to qualify for the statewide ballot. The OUR proposal would change this to 150,000 signatures and 100,000 signatures respectively.

The fourth amendment also changes deadlines for filing petitions, and repeals a current constitutional prohibition against initiative petition laws-constitutional amendments that classify property into different categories for tax purposes.

A coalition called Citizens for Safe, Lower Cost Electricity (CSLCE) has organized to oppose the OUR amendments. It is right now mainly composed of labor, utility, and academic-engineering groups.

CSLCE contends that the constitution is the general framework upon which legislative authority rests, and should not include very narrow and specific points of utility law. Setting specific levels of gas and electricity use makes utility regulation inflexible to meet changing economic and weather conditions, since they could be changed only by a vote of the people — a costly and cumbersome process.

Of more concern to taxpayers and consumers, however, is the fact that the OUR amendments "rob Peter to pay Paul." Someone has to pay for the lower cost lifeline rates, so non-residential utility users would have to subsidize residential users.

CSLCE estimates a 20 per cent to 30 per cent utility rate increase annually for industrial customers of Columbia Gas, Inc. and a 20 per cent to 25 per cent increase for the average school, church, hospital, nursing home, etc. The increased cost to business will be passed onto consumers through higher priced goods, and higher utility costs for schools and the like mean higher taxes or less funds for educational purposes.

CSLCE contends that the third OUR amendment gives too much power to the RUCAG, which is unaccountable and has no safeguards for the protection of people and businesses it decides to "investigate."

Moreover, the CSLCE is not needed, since protection of the interests of residential consumers was provided for in the new rate base law (SB 94) which established a Consumer Council to represent citizens in PUCO

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Hoping to pick up some easy money, Eddie began collecting shopping carts that had been abandoned by customers of a neighborhood market. When the market wouldn't pay his price for the carts, he sold them to other stores.

Finally the management had Eddie arrested on a charge of theft. But at the trial, he insisted he had committed no crime.

"It's a clear case of 'finders keepers,'" he told the court. "I didn't take those carts away from the market. They had already been removed from the premises by other people."

Nevertheless, the court found him guilty of the charge. The judge said that although a finder has "title" as against third parties, the real title remains in the original owner.

Courts generally take this view-point when the finder knows the identity of the owner. They see no reason to sweep aside the owner's rights just because the article is temporarily out of his possession.

Another finder got in trouble when he picked up a wallet lying on the sidewalk. Although it had identification papers, he put the money in his pocket and threw the wallet away. Here too, since the finder knew who the owner was, a court found him guilty of larceny.

On the other hand, a finder does have a right to a reward if one has been promised—either by the owner himself or by provision of local law.

In one case the finder of a gold watch saw an ad offering a reward for its return. But when he brought the watch to the owner's home, the wife said her husband would "take care of the reward later."

Was the finder justified in refusing to hand over the watch until he was paid? A court ruled that he was indeed. The court said he had a "lien" on the watch — a right to retain possession to make sure he received what he lawfully had coming.

proceedings. The Consumer Council is accountable to the legislature through the budget process and legislative authority to change the law as needed.

According to CSLCE, the OUR proposal to regulate nuclear facilities would make development of this energy source a political issue in every case of construction or expansion. It would clearly retard the growth of a viable energy alternative, and goes against the division of powers set forth in the constitution by placing judicial standards of "clear and convincing evidence" on legislative decisions. A similar proposal was recently defeated by substantial margins in California.

CSLCE objections to the last OUR amendment point out that it clearly has nothing to do with utility regulation. Even though it may stand on its own as an issue, its inclusion with the other three amendments doesn't make much sense.

As previously noted, it repeals the prohibition against initiative petitions setting discriminatory classes for property taxation. It also weakens the system of representative government by making it easier to circumvent the legislature.

CSLCE plans to challenge the OUR issues in court because all four amendments were circulated on one petition. Normally a different petition is circulated for each proposal.

Voters should thoroughly inform themselves about these four issues. They could significantly affect the cost of utility services in Ohio. As proposed, they may also drastically affect Ohio's economic health through high business costs and taxes. The OUR amendments are complicated proposals that deserve careful study.

ACT IV Drama Club Meets

ACT IV 4-H Drama Club will hold its final meeting of the summer Wednesday, August 25, at 3:30 p.m. in the Memorial Hall Theatre. Jane Ridley and James Knobloch who appear nightly in "Tecumseh" will be the guest speakers.

Ms. Ridley portrays Rebecca Galloway, the white woman who was courted by Tecumseh. A native of Wallington, England, she is a professional actress in stage, radio, and television. During the school year, she teaches a pre-professional course at the Ohio University.

Knobloch, who creates the role of The Prophet, is an Equity actor completing a Master of Fine Arts degree at the Ohio University. He has acted in or directed 30 theatre productions and was Technical Director for the original road production of "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

The ACT IV members recently attended a performance of "Tecumseh" and were given a back-stage tour of the amphitheatre facilities by Steve Stevenson, who plays James Galloway in the production.

Stevenson explained the technical aspects of the battle scene and showed the club members where the ground charges were ignited as well as the pyro-technic devices. The 4-Hers were allowed to view the costume room, and highlighting the tour was a stop in the make-up department where they were introduced to the talented make-up designer Kevin Haney.

Haney displayed for the group plaster casts of actors faces and rubber masks he created from the molds which enable young thespians to portray elderly Indians realistically.

The educational tour was completed when the ACT IV members were introduced to several of the "Tecumseh" cast including Mel Cobb who plays the title role.

It was mostly clear over Ohio last night, with a few patches of fog mainly in the valleys in the southeast. The scattered fog will clear later in the morning.

Early morning temperatures were generally in the 60s across the state. The high pressure center over the state has weakened and a cold front now lies across Ontario and lower Michigan. This front will move south to central Ohio by this evening and will push beyond the Ohio River by Tuesday morning.

The air mass accompanying the cold front is dry, and there is little chance of showers today or tonight. It will be somewhat cooler today, especially in northern Ohio where a shift in winds to a northerly direction will keep temperatures in the upper 70s to low 80s close to Lake Erie. Over the remainder of the state temperatures will range well into the 80s.

Deputies Investigate Two Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated two accidents involving injuries Sunday.

At 12:52 p.m. Wanda Stepp, 7, Columbus, sustained a lacerated lip resulting from an accident on Route 23.

According to Deputy J. R. Fite, Homer Stepp, 43, 138 S. Gift St., Columbus, was attempting to make a left turn from Route 23 to Red Bridge East Ringgold Road. William Bethel, following the Stepp vehicle, swerved to avoid hitting the car, but was unable to do so.

Both cars sustained moderate damage. Miss Stepp was treated by Deputy Fite and the Harrison Twp. Squad.

Deputy Fite and Deputy Tim Hasselbring investigated an accident on the Williamsport Chillicothe Road at 11:20 p.m. Carl R. Long, 21, Box 46 Williamsport, was northbound on the road when he apparently lost control on the Slaughterhouse Curve. According to the deputies, Long traveled off the right side of the road striking a guard rail and then went left across the road and spun around striking and damaging a fence owned by John H. Dunlap III, Dawson Yankeetown Rd. The Long auto was severely damaged. Long claimed injury but refused treatment.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

An unprecedented rise in utility prices the last two years has made utility regulation a subject of bitter debate in the 11th General Assembly. Several groups dissatisfied with legislative action have been circulating initiative petitions to place utility regulation issues on the November ballot.

To get an issue on the statewide ballot this November petitioners must have obtained the signatures of 307,201 qualified voters by August 4. Usually 10 per cent to 25 per cent of the signatures collected on an initiative petition proved to be invalid, so successful petitions need closer to 400,000 total signatures.

Citizens for Utility Rate Equality (CURE), led by former Public Utilities Commissioner Henry Eckhart and the State Auditor, failed to get enough signatures to put their package of four constitutional issues on the ballot. A Ralph Nader affiliated group called Ohioans for Utility Reform (OUR) submitted about 380,000 signatures on its petition to Secretary of State Ted Brown by the August 4 deadline.

It will take a couple more weeks for county Boards of Elections to check all the signatures, but with that many extra names it looks like the OUR petition will have the 307,201 signatures needed to go on the statewide ballot.

The OUR petition includes four separate constitutional amendments. The first issue would enact a new Article XIX of the Ohio Constitution to provide a "lifeline rate" for residential gas and electricity users. This means the Ohio Constitution would guarantee residential utility consumers what OUR calls "a reasonable rate for the minimum amount of gas and electricity necessary to maintain a minimum standard of living during the winter months."

Specifically, the provision says that from October 15 to April 15 residential utility users may be charged no more than the average monthly rate (charged all users) for the first 30,000 cubic feet of natural gas and 400 kilowatt hours of electricity.

In addition, consumers may be charged no more than 50 per cent more per cubic foot of gas for the next 20,000 cubic feet of gas per month, and consumers with all-electric homes in use or substantially completed when the amendment becomes effective could be charged no more than the lifeline rate for the first 2,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per month during the winter months.

The first OUR amendment also provides that lifeline rates cannot be increased by adding fuel adjustments or other expenses except when rates are set or reset, that revenues lost to utilities from the lifeline rates must be made up from other nonresidential utility users, and lifeline rate changes must be implemented within 60 days after the amendment passes.

The second OUR amendment would amend Article XX of the Ohio Constitution to provide for a Residential Utility Consumer Action Group (RUCAG), a not-for-profit corporation which would "represent the interests of residential utility consumers in utility proceedings," according to an OUR summary.

RUCAG could intervene in any utility proceeding; conduct investigations and require utilities or other persons to provide information for the investigation; force the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) to initiate proceedings; intervene in judicial review of PUCO actions; and may draft, testify on, and lobby for utility bills in the legislature.

RUCAG would be financed from a voluntary check-off system on utility bills. Residential utility consumers who contribute at least $6.00 per year to RUCAG would be members.

The Board of Trustees for RUCAG is to be composed of an elected representative from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts. Board members could not be political officeholders or appointees, and could have no substantial financial interests in utilities or affiliated companies.

OUR amendment number three seeks to amend Article XV of the Ohio Constitution to further regulate development of nuclear power plants and related facilities. Such facilities are already regulated by the state, the Federal Energy Agency, and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

This amendment sets restrictive requirements on construction or expansion of nuclear facilities not having a final construction license from the AEC by January 1, 1976. Laws proposed by initiative petition now require 3 per cent (92,160 signatures) and a referendum on a law passed by the legislature requires 6 per cent (184,380 signatures) to qualify for the statewide ballot. The OUR proposal would change this to 150,000 signatures and 100,000 signatures respectively.

The fourth amendment also changes deadlines for filing petitions, and repeals a current constitutional prohibition against initiative petition laws-constitutional amendments that classify property into different categories for tax purposes.

A coalition called Citizens for Safe, Lower Cost Electricity (CSLCE) has organized to oppose the OUR amendments. It is right now mainly composed of labor, utility, and academic-engineering groups.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Long used for advertising soaps and sedans, television now begins advertisements for itself and on itself.

The advertisements come from the Britons who brought us "The World at War," "Jenny" and "Destination America." On Sept. 6-10, they will take over all the night-time programming of the independent New York station, WOR, furnishing roughly 47 hours of shows, to prove that Americans will like them and stations should air them.

Already, independent stations in the 10 next biggest markets — including Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington and Boston — have made inquiries. A success here would mean similar broadcasts elsewhere.

"It's difficult to say what we'll do in the ratings because it is a totally unique situation," says Nigel Harrop, marketing supervisor of Thames Television, the "advertiser."

One of England's leading commercial television stations, Thames TV syndicates in 87 countries some of the 2,000 hours of programs it produces. It's non-commercial counterpart is the BBC, of "Upstairs, Downstairs" and other fame.

Not only does Thames TV want to bring the screening room into the living room of station owners and potential advertisers, it also hopes to demonstrate that there is a demand for its programs. And a glimpse of the week's shows yields the promise of huge demand.

A standout is the award-winning, eye-opening autobiography of a homosexual who has braved life "out of the closet" for decades. In a startlingly frank show for U.S. television, John Hurt gives a touching, nonpareil performance remarkable for its balance and tone as Quentin Crisp in "The Naked Civil Servant."

Among the spy programs, police yarns, situation comedies, variety shows and low-camp horror stories, likely rating winners include "The Benny Hill Show," "Rock Follies" and "New York-London."

Benny Hill is a comic who appears on but six TV specials a year, usually drawing 75 per cent of the audience. He declines nightclub or other personal appearances for fear of over-exposure, writes his own material and rarely plays fewer than a dozen roles during a show.

"New York-London" features Dick Cavett and British news personality Eamonn Andrews providing news and interviews in a magazine format "to introduce New Yorkers to London."

A sitcom being adapted as a network pilot here, "Rock Follies" chronicles the success of three failing actresses who become rock stars. Ironically, life imitated art — their songs have become hits.

Neither Thames TV nor WOR will disclose terms of the purchase of an entire week's nighttime programming. But Robert Williamson, WOR's vice president and general manager, says it was "a good deal."

Saying that the total costs amount to something less than $1 million, Harrop adds that Thames has sold about 70 per cent of the commercial time and that he expects a sellout to American and British advertisers alike. Of course, London is a long way to go to shop, but Britain's soft-sell ads are themselves entertainment on these shores.

By 1810, Ohio had 16 weekly newspapers printed on crude hand presses on paper made in the pioneer mills. Some editors delivered their papers on horseback and others took pork, potatoes, cheese and whisky in payment for subscriptions.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Long used for advertising soaps and sedans, television now begins advertisements for itself and on itself.

The advertisements come from the Britons who brought us "The World at War," "Jenny" and "Destination America." On Sept. 6-10, they will take over all the nighttime programming of the independent New York station, WOR, furnishing roughly 47 hours of shows, to prove that Americans will like them and stations should air them.

Already, independent stations in the 10 next biggest markets — including Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington and Boston — have made inquiries. A success here would mean similar broadcasts elsewhere.

"It's difficult to say what we'll do in the ratings because it is a totally unique situation," says Nigel Harrop, marketing supervisor of Thames Television, the "advertiser."

One of England's leading commercial television stations, Thames TV syndicates in 87 countries some of the 2,000 hours of programs it produces. It's non-commercial counterpart is the BBC, of "Upstairs, Downstairs" and other fame.

Not only does Thames TV want to bring the screening room into the living room of station owners and potential advertisers, it also hopes to demonstrate that there is a demand for its programs. And a glimpse of the week's shows yields the promise of huge demand.

A standout is the award-winning, eye-opening autobiography of a homosexual who has braved life "out of the closet" for decades. In a startlingly frank show for U.S. television, John Hurt gives a touching, nonpareil performance remarkable for its balance and tone as Quentin Crisp in "The Naked Civil Servant."

Among the spy programs, police yarns, situation comedies, variety shows and low-camp horror stories, likely rating winners include "The Benny Hill Show," "Rock Follies" and "New York-London."

Benny Hill is a comic who appears on but six TV specials a year, usually drawing 75 per cent of the audience. He declines nightclub or other personal appearances for fear of over-exposure, writes his own material and rarely plays fewer than a dozen roles during a show.

"New York-London" features Dick Cavett and British news personality Eamonn Andrews providing news and interviews in a magazine format "to introduce New Yorkers to London."

A sitcom being adapted as a network pilot here, "Rock Follies" chronicles the success of three failing actresses who become rock stars. Ironically, life imitated art — their songs have become hits.

Neither Thames TV nor WOR will disclose terms of the purchase of an entire week's nighttime programming. But Robert Williamson, WOR's vice president and general manager, says it was "a good deal."

Saying that the total costs amount to something less than $1 million, Harrop adds that Thames has sold about 70 per cent of the commercial time and that he expects a sellout to American and British advertisers alike. Of course, London is a long way to go to shop, but Britain's soft-sell ads are themselves entertainment on these shores.

By 1810, Ohio had 16 weekly newspapers printed on crude hand presses on paper made in the pioneer mills. Some editors delivered their papers on horseback and others took pork, potatoes, cheese and whisky in payment for subscriptions.

Tarkenton, Vikings Nip Cincinnati, 23-17

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Fran Tarkenton has been through it before but it was all new to Sammie White.

"We've been working very hard with these young receivers during training camp," said Tarkenton. "At some point kids have got to make a play. Sammie made a very big play."

White, a rookie from Grambling, hauled in a Tarkenton pass in the corner of the end zone with just 24 seconds left Sunday to give Minnesota a 23-17 victory over Cincinnati in a National Football League preseason game.

"Man, oh, man," said White when asked what his thoughts were as he watched the ball float towards him, "I'd better get this one."

How did he feel hauling in the game-winning catch?

"I just didn't know what to say or do," said the fleet rookie. "My mind was blank. But I've always had the confidence I could make the big play."

The winning toss, which covered 32 yards, came with the teams tied 17-17 and facing an overtime period in humid, 91-degree weather in Bloomington.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes in the game and set up a third with a 52-yard pass to Tom Gerredine.

The Bengals, who lost for the first time in four outings, had rallied to tie it at 17-all with just 1:16 left when John Reaves hit Billy Brooks with an 11-yard TD pass. Boobie Clark rammed over from the one-yard line for the other Cincinnati touchdown.

The victory evened the Vikings' exhibition record at 2-2.

In Saturday night games, Los Angeles downed Oakland 23-14; San Francisco edged San Diego 17-16; Miami topped Tampa Bay 28-21; New England defeated Atlanta 28-17; Kansas City got by Washington 23-20; Dallas dumped Detroit 36-16; St. Louis beat Chicago 20-14; the New York Jets defeated Houston 27-24, and Denver rocked Seattle 52-7.

On Friday night Buffalo buried Green Bay 37-0, New Orleans defeated

Baltimore 26-20 in overtime and the New York Giants upset Pittsburgh 17-0.

Cleveland plays at Philadelphia Monday night.

John Cappelletti ran for one touchdown and caught a pass from James Harris for another as undefeated Los Angeles overcame Carl Garrett's 96-yard TD run on the opening kickoff to beat Oakland.

Jim Plunkett fired two touchdown passes but San Francisco needed Steve Mick-Mayer's 38-yard field goal with two seconds left to keep its unbeaten record intact against San Diego.

Bob Griese threw for three first-half touchdowns and Miami held off cross-state rival Tampa Bay in the second half to up its record to 4-0 in front of 71,718 fans — the largest crowd of the preseason — at Tampa.

Don Calhoun raced 71 yards for one touchdown and quarterback Tom Owen passed for two more to lead New England past winless Atlanta.

A pair of second-half touchdown passes by reserve quarterback Tony Adams and Jan Stenerud's 36-yard field goal with 14 seconds left carried Kansas City past Washington.

Butch Johnson scored on an 89-yard kickoff return and Danny White hooked up with Duke Ferguson on two touchdown passes to help Dallas post its first victory of the exhibition season.

Veteran Jim Bakken booted a pair of field goals and Steve Jones and Jim Otis scored on short runs as St. Louis handed Chicago its first loss of the preseason.

Three field goals by Pat Leahy and Joe Namath's 10-yard TD pass to Jerome Barkum helped the Jets beat Houston. The Oilers missed a chance to tie when Skip Butler's 35-yard field goal attempt with 20 seconds left went wide.

Defensive back Louis Wright scored on a 27-yard fumble return and quarterbacks Steve Ramsey, John Hufnagel and Norris Weese each threw a touchdown pass as Denver routed winless Seattle.

Reds Edge Cubs; Win 4-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Cincinnati Reds utility man Ed Armbrister gets the call to action, he doesn't waste any time.

"When you only have three minutes to do it, you do it then or you have to wait until next week," said Armbrister, who was inserted into Sunday's game against the Chicago Cubs as a pinch runner in the seventh inning with the score tied at 3-3.

Given the steal sign, Armbrister started to break, but slipped and wisely held up.

Several pitches later, he stole second, setting the stage for a two-out, game-winning single by Pete Rose. It was only the fourth hit of the game for the Reds.

In the second, Dan Driessen walked, stole second, continued to third on a throwing error and scored on a wild pitch for Cincinnati's first run.

Rookie Manny Sarmiento, 3-1, picked up the 4-3 victory as the Reds finished their season's series holding a 9-3 advantage over the Cubs. Joe Coleman, the fourth Cubs pitcher, was saddled with his 11th loss in 14 decisions.

Cubs starter Steve Stone was forced out of the game in the second, complaining of a sore arm, then Bill Bonham came on.

Armbrister has been a key figure as the Reds drive for their fifth National League West title in six years.

He leads the club in pinch hits with seven, is batting .351, has stolen five bases in crucial spots and is considered the world champions' good luck charm.

"It's a long wait," said Armbrister, a throw-in in the celebrated trade with Houston four years ago that brought Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham, Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke to the Reds.

"You just hope you will get a chance."

Reds pitching has produced a 2.47 earned run average in the last 23 games, with Cincinnati winning 15 during the stretch.

Sunday's crowd of 40,018 pushed Reds' attendance over the 2 million mark for the fourth straight year and seven games ahead of their record pace of last year when they drew 2.3 million.

The Reds open a two-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

Confidence Randy Jones has. He's not sure about a balk move.

"It's not my job as a player to question the umpiring," the San Diego Padres left-hander said after failing for the second time to chalk up his 20th victory of the season. "But I didn't do anything different than I usually do. And I haven't had a balk called on me since I was pitching in college."

The balk played a major role in the New York Mets' 1-0 victory over the Padres Sunday.

Pete Mangual, running for Joe Torre, who reached first on an error to lead off the seventh inning, was awarded second base when first base umpire Jim Quick ruled that Jones balked while throwing over to first. Jerry Grote followed with a double off the left field wall to score Mangual with the game's lone run.

In other National League games Sunday, Philadelphia defeated Houston 5-1, St. Louis bombed Atlanta 8-0, Cincinnati edged Chicago 4-3, Pittsburgh clobbered Los Angeles 6-1 and San Francisco handed Montreal its eighth straight loss 4-3.

Jones' defeat was Mets' pitcher Jon Matlack's fifth shutout of the season, tops in the NL. Matlack, who fired a six-hitter and got out of a bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the ninth, is 13-17.

Giants 4, Expos 3

A two-out single by Gary Matthews in the ninth inning scored Larry Herndon to give San Francisco its victory over Montreal. It was the Expos' eighth straight loss.

Pirates 6, Dodgers 1

Willie Stargell's two-run homer and Richie Zisk's three singles helped Pittsburgh end Los Angeles' six-game winning streak as Larry Demery and Kent Tekulve combined for a six-hitter.

Stargell's 16th homer of the season came in the first inning and the Pirates added two more runs in the fourth and another in the fifth off loser Rick Rhoden, 11-2. The final Pirates run in the sixth came off Al Downing.

Phillies 5, Astros 1

Tom Underwood's five-hitter and shoddy Houston fielding gave Philadelphia its victory over the Astros. Underwood, 9-3, walked two and struck out seven as the Phillies won their fifth game in six outings.

Cardinals 8, Braves 0

Keith Hernandez' three-run homer and pitcher Lynn McGlothen's three-run double powered St. Louis past Atlanta. McGlothen shut out the Braves on five hits.

McGlothen squared his record at 11-11 with a 10-strikeout, one-walk performance. It was the St. Louis right-hander's third shutout and eighth complete game of the year.

Tarkenton, Vikings Nip Cincinnati, 23-17

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Fran Tarkenton has been through it before but it was all new to Sammie White.

"We've been working very hard with these young receivers during training camp," said Tarkenton. "At some point kids have got to make a play. Sammie made a very big play."

White, a rookie from Grambling, hauled in a Tarkenton pass in the corner of the end zone with just 24 seconds left Sunday to give Minnesota a 23-17 victory over Cincinnati in a National Football League preseason game.

"Man, oh, man," said White when asked what his thoughts were as he watched the ball float towards him, "I'd better get this one."

How did he feel hauling in the game-winning catch?

"I just didn't know what to say or do," said the fleet rookie. "My mind was blank. But I've always had the confidence I could make the big play."

The winning toss, which covered 32 yards, came with the teams tied 17-17 and facing an overtime period in humid, 91-degree weather in Bloomington.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes in the game and set up a third with a 52-yard pass to Tom Gerredine.

The Bengals, who lost for the first time in four outings, had rallied to tie it at 17-all with just 1:16 left when John Reaves hit Billy Brooks with an 11-yard TD pass. Boobie Clark rammed over from the one-yard line for the other Cincinnati touchdown.

The victory evened the Vikings' exhibition record at 2-2.

In Saturday night games, Los Angeles downed Oakland 23-14; San Francisco edged San Diego 17-16; Miami topped Tampa Bay 28-21; New England defeated Atlanta 28-17; Kansas City got by Washington 23-20; Dallas dumped Detroit 36-16; St. Louis beat Chicago 20-14; the New York Jets defeated Houston 27-24, and Denver rocked Seattle 52-7.

On Friday night Buffalo buried Green Bay 37-0, New Orleans defeated

Baltimore 26-20 in overtime and the New York Giants upset Pittsburgh 17-0.

Cleveland plays at Philadelphia Monday night.

John Cappelletti ran for one touchdown and caught a pass from James Harris for another as undefeated Los Angeles overcame Carl Garrett's 96-yard TD run on the opening kickoff to beat Oakland.

Jim Plunkett fired two touchdown passes but San Francisco needed Steve Mick-Mayer's 38-yard field goal with two seconds left to keep its unbeaten record intact against San Diego.

Bob Griese threw for three first-half touchdowns and Miami held off cross-state rival Tampa Bay in the second half to up its record to 4-0 in front of 71,718 fans — the largest crowd of the preseason — at Tampa.

Don Calhoun raced 71 yards for one touchdown and quarterback Tom Owen passed for two more to lead New England past winless Atlanta.

A pair of second-half touchdown passes by reserve quarterback Tony Adams and Jan Stenerud's 36-yard field goal with 14 seconds left carried Kansas City past Washington.

Butch Johnson scored on an 89-yard kickoff return and Danny White hooked up with Duke Ferguson on two touchdown passes to help Dallas post its first victory of the exhibition season.

Veteran Jim Bakken booted a pair of field goals and Steve Jones and Jim Otis scored on short runs as St. Louis handed Chicago its first loss of the preseason.

Three field goals by Pat Leahy and Joe Namath's 10-yard TD pass to Jerome Barkum helped the Jets beat Houston. The Oilers missed a chance to tie when Skip Butler's 35-yard field goal attempt with 20 seconds left went wide.

Defensive back Louis Wright scored on a 27-yard fumble return and quarterbacks Steve Ramsey, John Hufnagel and Norris Weese each threw a touchdown pass as Denver routed winless Seattle.

Reds Edge Cubs; Win 4-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Cincinnati Reds utility man Ed Armbrister gets the call to action, he doesn't waste any time.

"When you only have three minutes to do it, you do it then or you have to wait until next week," said Armbrister, who was inserted into Sunday's game against the Chicago Cubs as a pinch runner in the seventh inning with the score tied at 3-3.

Given the steal sign, Armbrister started to break, but slipped and wisely held up.

Several pitches later, he stole second, setting the stage for a two out, game-winning single by Pete Rose. It was only the fourth hit of the game for the Reds.

In the second, Dan Driessen walked, stole second, continued to third on a throwing error and scored on a wild pitch for Cincinnati's first run.

Rookie Manny Sarmiento, 3-1, picked up the 4-3 victory as the Reds finished their season's series holding a 9-3 advantage over the Cubs. Joe Coleman, the fourth Cubs pitcher, was saddled with his 11th loss in 14 decisions.

Cubs starter Steve Stone was forced out of the game in the second, complaining of a sore arm, then Bill Bonham came on.

Armbrister has been a key figure as the Reds drive for their fifth National League West title in six years.

He leads the club in pinch hits with seven, is batting .351, has stolen five bases in crucial spots and is considered the world champions' good luck charm.

"It's a long wait," said Armbrister, a throw-in in the celebrated trade with Houston four years ago that brought Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham, Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke to the Reds.

"You just hope you will get a chance."

Reds pitching has produced a 2.47 earned run average in the last 23 games, with Cincinnati winning 15 during the stretch.

Sunday's crowd of 40,018 pushed Reds' attendance over the 2 million mark for the fourth straight year and seven games ahead of their record pace of last year when they drew 2.3 million.

The Reds open a two-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

Confidence Randy Jones has. He's not sure about a balk move.

"It's not my job as a player to question the umpiring," the San Diego Padres left-hander said after failing for the second time to chalk up his 20th victory of the season. "But I didn't do anything different than I usually do. And I haven't had a balk called on me since I was pitching in college."

The balk played a major role in the New York Mets' 1-0 victory over the Padres Sunday.

Pepe Mangual, running for Joe Torre, who reached first on an error to lead off the seventh inning, was awarded second base when first base umpire Jim Quick ruled that Jones balked while throwing over to first. Jerry Grote followed with a double off the left field wall to score Mangual with the game's lone run.

In other National League games Sunday, Philadelphia defeated Houston 5-1, St. Louis bombed Atlanta 8-0, Cincinnati edged Chicago 4-3, Pittsburgh clobbered Los Angeles 6-1 and San Francisco handed Montreal its eighth straight loss 4-3.

Jones' defeat was Mets' pitcher Jon Matlack's fifth shutout of the season, tops in the NL. Matlack, who fired a six-hitter and got out of a bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the ninth, is 13-7.

Giants 4, Expos 3

A two-out single by Gary Matthews in the ninth inning scored Larry Herndon to give San Francisco its victory over Montreal. It was the Expos' eighth straight loss.

Pirates 6, Dodgers 1

Willie Stargell's two-run homer and Richie Zisk's three singles helped Pittsburgh end Los Angeles' six-game winning streak as Larry Demery and Kent Tekulve combined for a six-hitter.

Stargell's 16th homer of the season came in the first inning and the Pirates added two more runs in the fourth and another in the fifth off loser Rick Rhoden, 11-2. The final Pirates run in the sixth came off Al Downing.

Phillies 5, Astros 1

Tom Underwood's five-hitter and shoddy Houston fielding gave Philadelphia its victory over the Astros. Underwood, 9-3, walked two and struck out seven as the Phillies won their fifth game in six outings.

Cardinals 8, Braves 0

Keith Hernandez' three-run homer and pitcher Lynn McGlothen's three-run double powered St. Louis past Atlanta. McGlothen shut out the Braves on five hits.

McGlothen squared his record at 11-11 with a 10-strikeout, one-walk performance. It was the St. Louis right-hander's third shutout and eighth complete game of the year.

Campbell, Twins Top Tigers, 6-4

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Baseball Manager Gene Mauch, how do you spell relief?

C-A-M-P-B-E-L-L.

"Mike Marshall is the best relief pitcher I ever managed ... up to now. This guy is THE relief pitcher," Minnesota Manager Mauch said after relief ace Bill Campbell, pitching for the fifth day in a row, raised his record to a scintillating 13-3 — he also has 16 saves — as the Twins defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-4 in 12 innings Sunday.

Campbell, who came in and ended a Tiger threat in the 10th by nailing Bill Freehan and Pedro Garcia on called third strikes, almost lost it in the 11th when third baseman Mike Cubbage and first baseman Rod Carew collided on Ben Oglivie's pop-up with a runner racing home from third. Cubbage caught the ball, it bounced out of his glove and he caught it again to end the inning.

"Both (Campbell and Marshall) had the equipment to get left and right-handed batters out," Mauch said. "Both can get balls to move away from the hitter. Both are super athletes." Then Mauch fingered Campbell's weakness.

"Marshall might outthit him a little, but pitchers don't hit in this league," he said.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blew an eight-run lead in the ninth inning but scored three times in the 11th to defeat the New York Yankees 11-8, the Baltimore Orioles won their opener from the Chicago White Sox 6-2 but dropped the nightcap 7-3, the Kansas City Royals turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4, the Oakland A's nipped the Boston Red Sox 7-6 in 11 innings and the Cleveland Indians shaded the Texas Rangers 3-1.

After Campbell's pop fly scare in the 11th, the Twins snapped a tie against Detroit relief ace John Hiller in the 12th on consecutive doubles by Butch Wynegar and Lyman Bostock and Cubbage singled home an insurance run which Campbell didn't need.

Angels 11, Yankees 8

The Angels pounded Catfish Hunter for six runs and nine hits in 6 1-3 innings, including solo homers by Dave Collins leading off the game and Tony Solaita, in piling up an 8-0 lead. Meanwhile, Frank Tanana limited the Yankees to two hits until they exploded with one out in the ninth.

Honest Pleasure Wins Travers Stake Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — "He was just a runnin' fool."

That was jockey Craig Perret's assessment of Honest Pleasure Saturday in the Travers Stakes — and that assessment was right on target.

Honest Pleasure, who had not won since before the Kentucky Derby in May and who was not the favorite for the first time all year, smashed a four-race losing streak, as well as the Saratoga track record.

Syracuse Chiefs Edge Rhode Island, 7-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Designated hitter Del Alston walloped a three-run homer in the second inning to give Syracuse the edge needed for a 7-4 win over Rhode Island Sunday night in International League baseball.

In other Sunday games, Richmond nipped Charleston, 6-5; Tidewater beat Memphis, 3-1; and Toledo whipped Syracuse, 6-5.

In games Saturday, it was Tidewater over Memphis, 4-3 in 12 innings; Richmond swept two from Charleston, 2-0 and 2-1; Rochester beat Toledo, 7-4; and Rhode Island topped Syracuse, 2-1.

Texas Longhorns Looking Tough

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — If Earl Campbell's thick thigh can withstand the stretches and strains of fall football workouts, the Texas Longhorns could romp during the regular season.

Campbell, a 231-pound junior with enough speed to outrun many defensive backs, missed spring training with a pulled hamstring muscle, and published reports pictured Longhorn coaches as fearful it would keep him out in the fall.

"Earl has a 28¾-inch thigh. That's a lot more to pull than the average leg," says Coach Darrell Royal, "but the story was blown way out of proportion. He's running full speed."

Campbell has run for 2,046 yards in two years, which has resulted in predictions that Campbell could be the No. 1 pro draft choice after his senior season.

Eight offensive and 10 defensive regulars return from the Texas team that won 10 and lost two last season, finishing sixth in the college football poll after belting Colorado 38-21 in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl.

Absent, however, will be quarterback Marty Akins, who was all-Southwest Conference.

His probable successor is sophomore Ted Constanzo, who was roughed up by Texas A&M's top-ranked defense last year in a 20-10 Longhorn loss after Akins got hurt. Constanzo's challengers are another sophomore, Mike Cordaro, who got such a slow start that Royal didn't learn to pronounce his name for months, and Randy McEachern, who must overcome practice jitters.

The offensive line appears solid, and several freshman speedsters, including Olympic gold medal winner Johnny Jones, a member of the 400-meter relay team, should put pep in the halfback corps.

Wide receiver Alfred Jackson is rated a future pro star by Royal. And kicker Russell Erxleben averaged 41.4 yards a punt and hit 10 of 13 field goals as a freshman.

Defensive coach Mike Campbell fretted over the way Colorado "marched up and down the field" in

Agase Optimistic Over Purdue Team

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue lost fullback Mike Pruitt and three offensive linemen from last season's 4-7 football team, but Coach Alex Agase is optimistic of a better showing this year with an improved quarterback and tailback, plus the return of 10 defensive starters.

The often intangible factor of experience should also work to the Boilermakers' advantage, Agase said, since 13 seniors were listed in starting positions at the start of practice last week.

That would give Purdue its most battle-tested crew since 1972, the last year the Boilermakers posted a winning record, 6-5.

Agase, who came to Purdue in 1973, feels this year's squad just may give him his first winning season here.

"It's obvious that everything starts with the quarterback, and it's easy to see that it's important for a winning team to be solid at the quarterback position," the coach said. "We feel with the improvement of Mark Vitali this past spring and the resurgence of Steve Barr and Joe Metallic at the position, we have met that need."

Vitali completed only 36 per cent of his passes last year, but he totaled 728 yards on 46 completions and three

the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl, but he says his veteran defense has "experience, pretty good quickness and size where you need it."

Where you need it is at defensive tackle, and Royal and Campbell are impressed with junior Brad Shearer, 6-foot-4 and 260 pounds, and Ernest Lee, 6-4 and 250. Shearer was all-SWC last year, and Lee led the team in tackles in Texas' final two games.

The all-senior linebacking trio of Bill Hamilton, Rick Fenlaw and Lionell Johnson were credited with 400 tackles in 1975, and Johnson must fight off the challenge of a 228-pound sophomore, Dwight Jefferson, to keep his job.

Massengale Wins Open At Hartford

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Take a tip from your brother, mix it with trust in God and then concentrate on your golf game.

That formula brought Rik Massengale, a soft-spoken Texan, the $42,000 top prize in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open golf tournament Sunday in steambath-like conditions.

Massengale, who leads a Bible study group that meets regularly on the pro golf tour, fashioned a strong five-under-par 31 on the back nine for a final-round 66 as he held off a host of challengers on the Wethersfield Country Club's 6,598-yard course, one of the shortest on the tour.

The handsome, mustachioed 29-year-old, younger brother of former touring pro Don Massengale, said that just a few weeks ago at the Pleasant Valley Classic in Massachusetts he told a friend, "I really didn't feel like I would win." He said he was putting well but didn't think his game was good enough for a victory.

Then his brother, Rik's boyhood idol who is now a club pro, worked with him at the PGA tournament last week to change his grip.

"That's all I changed. That's just golf. That's how quick it can change," Massengale said after his second victory in six years as a pro.

Whitworth Wins Berg

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth recorded her 76th Ladies Professional Golf Association victory Sunday by letting the other golfers shoot at her score while she sat in the clubhouse at the $55,000 Patty Berg Golf Classic.

"It's my Bicentennial victory," said the lanky Texan, who birdied the 18th hole for an even-par 73 to win the Berg Classic by two strokes over Sandra Post.

"I would rather be ahead and let them shoot at me," she said, relaxing after her round to watch Miss Post and Bonnie Bryant come in on 18. Miss Whitworth finished seven under par.

Miss Whitworth set a course record Friday with an opening 66 and coasted to par 73s the rest of the way to pick up the $8,000 winner's check. The cardboard facsimile of the check measured 4 feet by 10, but Miss Whitworth commented, "everything should be big for Texas."

Her last tour victory had come in February.

Midlands To Have '76 Grid Camp

CHICAGO (AP) — The Midlands have dominated the national collegiate football championship through the 1970s, with one exception, and there is no reason to believe it cannot happen again.

Can Oklahoma make it three straight national titles or will Nebraska assert itself in the Big Eight? Nebraska won in 1970 and 1971. Oklahoma in 1974 and 1975.

In between, Southern California stepped in for the title in 1972 and Notre Dame took it back to the Midwest in 1973.

Then there is the Big Ten, dominated by Ohio State and Michigan. Although these two powerhouses are consistently ranked among the top 10 during the season—Ohio State topped The Associated Press poll most of the 1975 campaign—they have managed to stub their toes in the bowl games when the national championships are decided.

Not since Ohio State finished on top in 1968 has a Big Ten team won the national title.

If the Midlands again provide the national champion, it will be one of five schools—Oklahoma, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Michigan or Ohio State. Nobody else figures.

Notre Dame can look forward to returning to the Top 10 this year. The Irish are loaded with fine running backs and Rick Slager and Joe Montana will battle for the quarterback spot. Eight starters return on defense including ends Ross Browner and Willie Fry and back Luther Bradley.

Oklahoma, upset only by Kansas last season but a winner over Michigan in the Orange Bowl, has lost heavily. Gone are the Selmon brothers, Leroy and Dewey, from the Sooners rugged defense.

Pearson Wins Champion 400

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — David Pearson never got much formal education, but he's always been blessed with native intelligence and common sense.

Pearson seems to know when it's time to lay back, take it easy. And he also knows when to stand on the gas. In life, such a knowledge can be the difference between success and failure. In stock car racing, it's the difference between victory and defeat.

So far this season in NASCAR Grand National racing, Pearson's been victorious in eight of 14 attempts.

Victory No. 8 was added Sunday at Michigan International Speedway, in the $135,000 Champion 400 — Pearson's seventh victory in the last nine races at the two-mile track. It came at the expense of Cale Yarborough and Richard Petty, who tried to run away from Pearson through the middle of the race.

13 Persons Injured In Racing Accident

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Thirteen persons were injured when a car skidded off the track and crashed into the pit area at Northern Kentucky Speedway near here over the weekend, track manager Dick Paul said.

Seven of the injured were still hospitalized Sunday — five of them in serious condition.

Paul said two of the injured were pit crew members and the others were spectators.

Roy Sandusky, a local driver who had raced at the dirt track frequently, lost control of his "hobby stock" in the second lap after several cars bumped each other Saturday night, Paul said.

Oklahoma also lost running back Joe Washington and regular quarterback Steve Davis. But the Sooners, like other major powers, have little trouble recruiting top talent and must be considered for the Big Eight and national championships.

Nebraska appears ready to step out front in the Big Eight. The Cornhuskers won 10 straight last year before falling to Oklahoma and then losing to Arizona State 17-14 in the Fiesta Bowl.

Always tough on defense, Nebraska has eight starters returning to one of the nation's top offensive units including quarterback Vince Ferragamo and tailback Monte Anthony.

Kansas could be a factor in the Big Eight. The Jayhawks, who surprised Oklahoma 23-3 last year, have quarterback Nolan Cromwell, the Big Eight's leading rusher and top player back again along with halfback Laverne Smith.

Oklahoma State has 17 starters returning and could be the dark horse of the league. Missouri has 15 starters back but a tough schedule will be the undoing of the Tigers.

Colorado lost heavily through graduation and will rely on untried talent. Kansas State and Iowa State don't figure in the conference race.

Unless Ohio State can do a quick rebuilding job in the backfield—and there is no reason to believe it cannot be done—Michigan could capture the Big Ten title and the guaranteed trip to the Rose Bowl.

Ohio State lost two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin, the first 5,000-yard rusher in major college history, along with quarterback Cornelius Greene and wingback Brian Baschnagel.

But Coach Woody Hayes—who often has warned, "Don't get caught without a fullback"—has massive Pete Johnson to rebuild around.

Ohio State again has an awesome defense to go with the kicking game of Tom Skladany.

Michigan, with one of its youngest teams in years, lost only to Ohio State

Texas Longhorns Looking Tough

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — If Earl Campbell's thick thigh can withstand the stretches and strains of fall football workouts, the Texas Longhorns could romp during the regular season.

Campbell, a 231-pound junior with enough speed to outrun many defensive backs, missed spring training with a pulled hamstring muscle, and published reports pictured Longhorn coaches as fearful it would keep him out in the fall.

"Earl has a 28 3/4-inch thigh. That's a lot more to put than the average leg," says Coach Darrell Royal, "but the story was blown way out of proportion. He's running full speed."

Campbell has run for 2,046 yards in two years, which has resulted in predictions that Campbell could be the No. 1 pro draft choice after his senior season.

Eight offensive and 10 defensive regulars return from the Texas team that won 10 and lost two last season, finishing sixth in the college football poll after belting Colorado 38-21 in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl.

Absent, however, will be quarterback Marty Akins, who was all-Southwest Conference.

His probable successor is sophomore Ted Constanzo, who was roughed up by Texas A&M's top-ranked defense last year in a 20-10 Longhorn loss after Akins got hurt. Constanzo's challengers are another sophomore, Mike Cordaro, who got such a slow start that Royal didn't learn to pronounce his name for months, and Randy McEachern, who must overcome practice jitters.

The offensive line appears solid, and several freshman speedsters, including Olympic gold medalist Johnny Jones, a member of the 400-meter relay team, should put pep in the halfback corps.

Wide receiver Alfred Jackson is rated a future pro star by Royal. And kicker Russell Erxleben averaged 41.4 yards a punt and hit 10 of 13 field goals as a freshman.

Defensive coach Mike Campbell fretted over the way Colorado "marched up and down the field" in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl, but he says his veteran defense has "experience, pretty good quickness and size where you need it."

Where you need it is at defensive tackle, and Royal and Campbell are impressed with junior Brad Shearer, 6-foot-4 and 260 pounds, and Ernest Lee, 6-4 and 250. Shearer was all-SWC last year, and Lee led the team in tackles in Texas' final two games.

The all-senior linebacking trio of Bill Hamilton, Rick Fenlaw and Lionell Johnson were credited with 400 tackles in 1975, and Johnson must fight off the challenge of a 228-pound sophomore, Dwight Jefferson, to keep his job.

The defensive ends are Campbell's brother, Tim, voted the most valuable defensive player in the bowl game as a freshman, and Steve Sraty. Both are 5-11 and weigh under 200 but have quickness.

Massengale Wins Open At Hartford

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Take a tip from your brother, mix it with trust in God and then concentrate on your golf game.

That formula brought Rik Massengale, a soft-spoken Texan, the $42,000 top prize in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open golf tournament Sunday in steam-bath-like conditions.

Massengale, who leads a Bible study group that meets regularly on the pro golf tour, fashioned a strong five-under-par 31 on the back nine for a final-round 66 as he held off a host of challengers on the Wethersfield Country Club's 6,598-yard course, one of the shortest on the tour.

The handsome, mustachioed 29-year-old, younger brother of former touring pro Don Massengale, said that just a few weeks ago at the Pleasant Valley Classic in Massachusetts he told a friend, "I really didn't feel like I would win." He said he was putting well but didn't think his game was good enough for a victory.

Then his brother, Rik's boyhood idol who is now a club pro, worked with him at the PGA tournament last week to change his grip.

"That's all I changed. That's just golf. That's how quick it can change," Massengale said after his second victory in six years as a pro.

Whitworth Wins Berg

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth recorded her 76th Ladies Professional Golf Association victory Sunday by letting the other golfers shoot at her score while she sat in the clubhouse at the $55,000 Patty Berg Golf Classic.

"It's my Bicentennial victory," said the lanky Texan, who birdied the 18th hole for an even-par 73 to win the Berg Classic by two strokes over Sandra Post.

"I would rather be ahead and let them shoot at me," she said, relaxing after her round to watch Miss Post and Bonnie Bryant come in on 18. Miss Whitworth finished seven under par.

Miss Whitworth set a course record Friday with an opening 66 and coasted to par 73s the rest of the way to pick up the $8,000 winner's check. The cardboard facsimile of the check measured 4 feet by 10, but Miss Whitworth commented, "everything should be big for Texas."

Her last tour victory had come in February.

Midlands To Have '76 Grid Camp

CHICAGO (AP) — The Midlands have dominated the national collegiate football championship through the 1970s, with one exception, and there is no reason to believe it cannot happen again.

Can Oklahoma make it three straight national titles or will Nebraska assert itself in the Big Eight? Nebraska won in 1970 and 1971. Oklahoma in 1974 and 1975.

In between, Southern California stepped in for the title in 1972 and Notre Dame took it back to the Midwest in 1973.

Then there is the Big Ten, dominated by Ohio State and Michigan. Although these two powerhouses are consistently ranked among the top 10 during the season—Ohio State topped The Associated Press poll most of the 1975 campaign—they have managed to stub their toes in the bowl games when the national championships are decided.

Not since Ohio State finished on top in 1968 has a Big Ten team won the national title.

If the Midlands again provide the national champion, it will be one of five schools—Oklahoma, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Michigan or Ohio State. Nobody else figures.

Notre Dame can look forward to returning to the Top 10 this year. The Irish are loaded with fine running backs and Rick Slagter and Joe Montana will battle for the quarterback spot. Eight starters return on defense including ends Ross Browner and Willie Fry and back Luther Bradley.

Oklahoma, upset only by Kansas last season but a winner over Michigan in the Orange Bowl, has lost heavily. Gone are the Selmon brothers, Leroy and Dewey, from the Sooners rugged defense.

Pearson Wins Champion 400

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — David Pearson never got much formal education, but he's always been blessed with native intelligence and common sense.

Pearson seems to know when it's time to lay back, take it easy. And he also knows when to stand on the gas. In life, such a knowledge can be the difference between success and failure. In stock car racing, it's the difference between victory and defeat.

So far this season in NASCAR Grand National racing, Pearson's been victorious in eight of 14 attempts.

Victory No. 8 was added Sunday at Michigan International Speedway, in the $135,000 Champion 400 — Pearson's seventh victory in the last nine races at the two-mile track. It came at the expense of Cale Yarborough and Richard Petty, who tried to run away from Pearson through the middle of the race.

13 Persons Injured In Racing Accident

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Thirteen persons were injured when a car skidded off the track and crashed into the pit area at Northern Kentucky Speedway near here over the weekend, track manager Dick Paul said.

Seven of the injured were still hospitalized Sunday — five of them in serious condition.

Paul said two of the injured were pit crew members and the others were spectators.

Roy Sandusky, a local driver who had raced at the dirt track frequently, lost control of his "hobby stock" in the second lap after several cars bumped each other Saturday night, Paul said.

Agase Optimistic Over Purdue Team

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue lost fullback Mike Pruitt and three offensive linemen from last season's 4-7 football team, but Coach Alex Agase is optimistic of a better showing this year with an improved quarterback and tailback, plus the return of 10 defensive starters.

The often intangible factor of experience should also work to the Boilermakers' advantage, Agase said, since 13 seniors were listed in starting positions at the start of practice last week.

That would give Purdue its most battle-tested crew since 1972, the last year the Boilermakers posted a winning record, 6-5.

Agase, who came to Purdue in 1973, feels this year's squad just may give him his first winning season here.

"It's obvious that everything starts with the quarterback, and it's easy to see that it's important for a winning team to be solid at the quarterback position," the coach said. "We feel with the improvement of Mark Vitali this past spring and the resurgence of Steve Barr and Joe Metallic at the position, we have met that need."

Vitali completed only 36 per cent of his passes last year, but he totaled 728 yards on 46 completions and three touchdowns. Metallic, a junior, was the star of Purdue's spring intrasquad game, hitting five of seven attempts for 99 yards and two touchdowns.

The loss of Pruitt, a first-round pick in the National Football League draft, will hurt, Agase admitted. But returning is Scott Dierking, "a performer we feel is one of the premier tailbacks in the conference this season."

Dierking led the Boilermakers with 914 yards last year, and he will be trying to become the only other runner besides Otis Armstrong to lead the team in rushing three straight seasons. "Dierking is a superior runner and he makes us extremely strong at that position," Agase said. Tim Boykin also will play both tailback and fullback this season.

One significant personnel change involved flanker Paul Beery, the leading pass catcher last season, who was moved to defensive safety. He will be replaced by Reggie Arnold, who will be backed up by Jappy Oliver.

"The offensive line is our biggest area of concern," Agase said. "We lost three outstanding linemen to graduation and they all were selected in the professional football draft."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may run into unexpected opposition, some rough areas. Be ready, take all with your innate common sense, and try all the harder to achieve worthwhile objectives.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Tentatively reject uncertainties — until you have more facts and a better guarantee of success. Ask counsel of well-informed persons.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking — IF reasonable. Don't go out on the proverbial limb, however, and DO avoid extremism.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Accentuate the positive in your thinking if you would make the real advancement possible now. Routine activities may be happily supplemented by some new interests.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Despite possible obstacles, you could win many benefits from this day's efforts. Take steps to launch long-range plans, to complete unfinished

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You are inclined to be extremely critical of others, but the shoe may be on the other foot now. Don't be resentful. Listen — and learn.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unique ideas, thoughtfully presented — and at the right time — could bring new gains now. A good period, also, for making long-range plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Channel efforts where they will serve advantageously, where your unusual talents are recognized and appreciated. Don't be led off a constructive course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): The Sagittarian is noted for his generosity, but don't let excessive sympathy or emotions divert your altruism into dubious causes. Use good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences generous, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance here to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be indifferent, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Certain suggestions must be ignored; others accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an engaging personality and are highly gregarious by nature. The Virgoan is idealistic and sometimes suffers needlessly when others do not live up to his lofty standards. You have a great love of home and family and, though you enjoy travel, are happier in your own surroundings. You are extremely versatile; would make a good banker, journalist, real estate operator, confidential secretary or diplomat; would be happiest, however, in work which requires careful research and meticulous attention to detail — as in science. Try to curb tendencies to be overly critical and exacting with loved ones and associates.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FORTUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may run into unexpected opposition, some rough areas. Be ready, take all with your innate common sense, and try all the harder to achieve worthwhile objectives.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Tentatively reject uncertainties — until you have more facts and a better guarantee of success. Ask counsel of well-informed persons.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking — if reasonable. Don't go out on the proverbial limb, however, and DO avoid extremism.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Accentuate the positive in your thinking if you would make the real advancement possible now. Routine activities may be happily supplemented by some new interests.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Despite possible obstacles, you could win many benefits from this day's efforts. Take steps to launch long-range plans, to complete unfinished tasks.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You are inclined to be extremely critical of others, but the shoe may be on the other foot now. Don't be resentful. Listen — and learn.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unique ideas, thoughtfully presented — and at the right time — could bring new gains now. A good period, also, for making long-range plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Channel efforts where they will serve advantageously, where your unusual talents are recognized and appreciated. Don't be led off a constructive course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): The Sagittarian is noted for his generosity, but don't let excessive sympathy or emotions divert your altruism into dubious causes. Use good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences generous, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance here to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be indifferent, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Certain suggestions must be ignored; others accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an engaging personality and are highly gregarious by nature. The Virgoan is idealistic and sometimes suffers needlessly when others do not live up to his lofty standards. You have a great love of home and family and, though you enjoy travel, are happier in your own surroundings. You are extremely versatile; would make a good banker, journalist, real estate operator, confidential secretary or diplomat; would be happiest, however, in work which requires careful research and meticulous attention to detail — as in science. Try to curb tendencies to be overly critical and exacting with loved ones and associates.

Sled dogs have been replaced by snowmobiles in Alaskan villages and hunting camps, according to National Geographic. One Alaskan explained, "With dogs a man could go 50 miles out, with a snowmobile he can go 50 miles out and back."

Middle Ages 'War' Held At Alliance

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Some 200 history buffs donned shining armor and costumes of the Middle Ages over the weekend and waged a make-believe war complete with swords, battle axes and maces.

In a hill-top battle staged on an isolated farm, the Middle Kingdom defeated the Eastern Kingdom in the fifth annual Pensic War of the Society for Creative Anachronism (SCA).

In addition, there were archery contests, jousts between champions, medieval food and drink and the kings held court. The women wore costumes of the Middle Ages.

One of war's victims was His Royal Majesty Alaric von Rotstern, also known as Nick Buchholz, an engineer from Richmond, Va. Alaric-Bucholz fell as his badly outnumbered knights fought their last battle atop a bramble-covered hill.

The victor was King Albert von Drekenvelt, ordinarily Al Tegen, a 28 year-old Dekalb, Ill., lab assistant.

"We got hit from both sides. I think I killed two before they got me," said Sheriff Gradewynne the Wrong-handed, who is Greg Nascone, 20, of Connecticut, when he isn't busy being a knight.

The combat itself is real, although the weapons are heavily bound in air conditioning duct tape to lessen the impact of the blows.

Knights clobber each other as hard as they can and bruises, small cuts and broken fingers sometimes result.

"It's a lot safer than football," said Dagan duDarregonne, Crown Prince of the East, who is also Vic Townsend of Ypsilanti, Mich.

SCA cultivates the chivalry associated with the Middle Ages and men are addressed as "Milord" and women as "Milady." People bow as they pass each other. SCA members speak of trolls and dragons. People wearing 20th century clothing are called "mundanes." Much of the armor is handcrafted metal.

But there are concessions to the modern day. Women were permitted to suit up in chain mail and fight alongside the men.

Duke Andrew of Seldom Rest (Andy Holly, 38, of Cincinnati), was in charge of running this year's war and he coordinated events with the participants over a citizens band radio.

"We couldn't have done this without the CB," said Andrew, who trudged through camp in a 15th Century Hun costume.

President Relaxes, Plans Campaign

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford is continuing a relaxed vacation schedule that was criticized by his vice presidential running mate before he was chosen for the second spot on the Republican ticket.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford would continue to mix White House chores with athletics at least for today, but is expected to begin taking part in campaign-strategy sessions with his advisers on Tuesday.

Nessen reported that conferences on the campaign already are underway among advisers, although Ford has not been involved in any major way.

Last week, before Ford selected him as his running mate, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas met with editors of Time magazine, which quoted him in this week's edition as criticizing plans for the Vail stay.

"With eight weeks to go, he (Ford) has to be very aggressive," Dole was quoted as saying. "... With him going to Vail for a week, that's 15 per cent of it down the drain."

Dole's press secretary, Janet Anderson, who attended the session with the magazine editors, said Sunday night that the quotes "appeared accurate."

Nessen responded by saying, "The President is not wasting his time. This will be a very productive week in the campaign."

Dole is expected to arrive Wednesday for campaign conferences.

Meanwhile, in another weekend development, former Texas Gov. John Connally reportedly turned down a Ford request to become chairman of the Republican National Committee because he believes it is too late for Ford to overcome Jimmy Carter's lead in the presidential polls.

That report in the Sunday Dallas Times Herald said that Connally did not want to be blamed for a Republican loss in November.

Connally could not be reached for comment.

Already in Vail with the presidential party are campaign chairman Rogers C.B. Morton, pollster Robert Teeter, political director Stuart Spence, deputy campaign chief James Baker and communications chief William Greener.

State Fair Opening Set For Aug. 26

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state invites you to drop in at its fairgrounds anytime between 6 a.m. and midnight from Aug. 26 to Sept. 6 to rub elbows with more than two million of your neighbors at the 123rd Ohio State Fair.

"It's still a bargain," said Bill Stalter, whose duties are lumped under titles of supervisor of special events, arts and junior fair and director of public relations.

A $2 adult ticket covers everything from a bandage to a concert by the Osmond Brothers. Children aged 12 and under are admitted free before noon Monday through Friday. After that, and on weekends, they pay 50 cents.

Stalter said the free entertainment policy draws the largest crowds.

This year's grandstand features the Osmonds, K.C. & The Sunshine Band, Tanya Tucker, Telly Savalas, the Pat Boone family, Fifth Dimension, Johnny Cash, Mac Davis, Lynn Anderson, Red Skelton, Ohio Players, John Davidson, Bob Hope and Neil Sedaka.

New programs at the fair which runs from Aug. 26 through Sept. 6 include a demolition derby and an exhibit of the Santa Gertrudis breed of beef cattle.

This year's theme is "Showcase of the American Spirit" and fair officials promise something for everyone at the exposition they claim is the second largest in the United States.

Fairgoers also can watch harness races, marching band festivals, tractor pulls and a cupcake eating contest.

"We are at the mercy of the weather man," Stalter said, recalling three rainy days last year. He's also counting on the tradition of the fair to bring in the crowds to the 360-acre grounds in Columbus.

ODC Offers Tax Course

Ohio Dominican will offer a full semester course this fall on understanding the tax laws.

Lyle Moore, agent for Internal Revenue Service in the Columbus area, will instruct studies in Federal Income Tax accounting which will cover the tax law as it pertains to the individual return, and how it can be used in business.

Missionary To Speak At First Church Of Christ

Miss Elsie Conley, missionary to Papua, New Guinea, will speak at First Church of Christ in Christian Union, 436 E. Ohio St., Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Conley serves with the Churches of Christ in Christian Union, with headquarters in Circleville. Before ministering in New Guinea, she served on the island of Dominica in the West Indies for six years.

Missionary interest was kindled in her early teens when she heard a missionary to China speak. She felt she, too, would like to become a missionary someday.

Following graduation from high school in her native state of Kentucky, Miss Conley studied at Teachers College in Pippasses, Kentucky, for two years. While there, her interest in foreign missions was rekindled. A few weeks after completing junior college work, she sensed a definite call of God to become a missionary.

In further preparation for the mission field, Miss Conley studied Bible at Circleville Bible College. She graduated from CBC in 1959 with a B.S.L. degree.

Her missionary service began in Dominica in September 1959. She pastored a church at Fond St. Jean, engaged in child and youth evangelism, and part of the time taught at the Bible school. She ministered in Dominica until September 1965.

In December 1966, Miss Conley transferred to the New Guinea field.

During her first term in New Guinea, she taught in the primary and in the pidgin literacy schools. She also helped in the medical work.

When she returned to America for furlough, she attended Cedarville College in Ohio to further her teachers training in elementary education.

Returning to New Guinea in August 1972, she was situated at Farata. She supervised the work in that area, ministering to adults, young people, and children on the station and those in Paroma Government School. She also assisted in infant and maternal welfare.

While on furlough, Miss Conley has been sharing her burden for the people of Papua New Guinea. After a regular furlough, she plans to return to the mission field.

Commissioners Attend Meeting

The Pickaway County Commissioners met Monday for a short meeting before traveling to Cincinnati for a meeting.

Commissioners Dick Tootle, Robert Liston and Donald Strous approved the replacement of a vacuum pump for the Central Heating Plant. A Hoffman Condensate Pump, costing $3,100 will be installed by the Farber Corporation in Columbus.

The commissioners left at 10 a.m. for the summer meeting of the Engineers and the County Commissioners Association of the State of Ohio.
